Fischer Quintuplets Nearing End Of 72 Hours, Most Critical Period

Doctor Expects to Switch
Them to Formula Diet Today

ABERDEEN, S. D. (AP) — The Fischer quintuplets, going strong on tiny feedings of sugar water, were doing fine today as they neared the end of the 72-hour period considered critical by doctors.
The four girls and a boy may be switched to a formula diet today,
Dr. James Berbos, who delivered the babies, said.
The quints were born early Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer. The babies rounded out their first 48 hours of life early today.

Equality for All Made Goal Of Churchmen

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish leaders joined Sunday in a public pledge to strive to "establish the right of every man, woman and child, rich or poor, colored or white, to live in dignity, in security in freedom and hope."
Appearing at a mass meeting at the Milwaukee Auditorium attended by 5,000 persons, the religious leaders solemnly repeated the pledge and shook hands on it.
First to recite the promise was Archbishop William E. Cousins of the Milwaukee Roman Catholic archdiocese. He was followed by the Rev. B. S. Gregg, Negro pastor of St. Matthew's Christian Methodist Episcopal church and president of the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance; The Rev. Dr. Richard W. Miller, president of the Greater Milwaukee Council of Churches; Rabbi Dudley Weinberg, president of the Wisconsin Council of Rabbis;
and the Rev. Dr. Theodore E.
Matson, president of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

The rally, opening Milwaukee's religion and race conference, was presided over by the Rt. Rev.
Donald H. V. Hallock, Episcopal

Korean Who Defected Decade Ago No Longer Fears Red Reprisals

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Ten-years ago, a young North Korean pilot defected to the West in a Soviet-built MIG15 and collected a $100,000 reward.
Komsok Ko—now 31 and known as Kenneth Rowe—lives in San Diego and said he no longer fears Communist retaliation.
"Now I have concluded that once you get to America you are pretty safe," he said, "and I don't know what kind of value they would get out of killing me.
The damage is done."
Rowe still puts on dark glasses
when he spots a photographer, however. "For the first few years
I moved around the country quite a bit, and I don't want to move again," he said.
He lived in Washington, Montana and Delaware before moving to California.

Sen. Nelson Wants Kennedy to Observe Resource 'Blunders'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.
Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said today that when President Kennedy stops off on his conservation tour in Northern Wisconsin on Sept. 24 he will learn of "blunders in the past and great hope for the future."
"The destruction over 50 years ago of natural resources in Northern Wisconsin, just as in many other places, was a national scandal," Nelson said.
"First we squandered the timber. Then we ruined the soil and some of the waters. And then we exploited our final resource, the people. Every one of these foolish measures ended in failure."
Nelson, during his two terms as governor and since his election to the Senate last fall, has been a strong advocate of conservation of natural resources.
Intelligent long-range planning,
Nelson said, could turn the North into a great recreational asset and a self-sufficient economic unit.

Violence Mars Official Rites In Mayaysia

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia
(AP)—Violent demonstrations in Indonesia and a cold shoulder from the Philippines darkened the birth of Malaysia today. In its first hours of life, the new nation found itself in deep trouble with its two biggest neighbors.
Neither the Philippines nor Indonesia recognizes the Federation of Malaysia. In Indonesia, mobs stormed the British and Malayan Embassy compounds to protest birth of the British-supported federation. In Manila, Philippine officials withheld recognition pending consultations with their diplomatic experts.
Both nations have placed claims to the North Borneo section of Malaysia.
Embassies Stormed
As Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and King Yangdi-Pelnam Agong of Malaya knelt here in prayerful thanksgiving, angry demonstrators stoned the Malay-an and British embassies in Jakarta, Indonesia, in support of their government's opposition to the federation. A crowd of 5,000 tore down the British flag, smashed windows and set the British ambassador's car ablaze.
Malaya was the leader of the formation of Malaysia, bringing under one flag with Malaya the British colonies of Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo.
At the British Embassy, demonstrators knocked down part of the embassy compound's iron-grill fence, rolled out an embassy car, turned it over, then set it on fire.

DePere Youths in Stolen Car Slam Into Diesel Engine; Berlin Man Dies at Oshkosh

BY DON KAMPFER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

HILBERT—Four DePere youths riding in a stolen car were killed early today when their speeding auto slammed into a slow moving diesel locomotive at a fog shrouded Soo Line railroad crossing just north of here.

Milton E. Paul Doehler Jr., 19, 432 N. Broadway;
Bernard L. Van Den Heuvel, 22, 121½ N. Michigan St.; Don V. Pargo, 17, 306½ N. Michigan, and Mark Adrian-sen, 16, 109½ N. Superior St.

John W. Taft, 25, 226 N. Wisconsin St., Berlin, was killed instantly when the car he was driving slammed into Clairville Road Bridge on County Trunk K three miles west of Oshkosh Sunday. Taft's death, the four from DePere and eight other accidents in the state brought the weekend toll to 601 compared with 644 a year ago at this time.

The violent crash occurred about 5:35 a.m. on State 57 at the Soo Line crossing. Sheriff C. J. Kos-mosky said. The southbound stolen 1961 model Cadillac was driven by Doehler when it piled into the second unit of a two-diesel freight. The train, traveling east at about three miles an hour was bound for Manitowoc. It had left Menasha about an hour earlier.

Out of Commission
One of the diesel units was knocked out of commission by the impact.

"Man, were they traveling," Engineer Harold W. Sonnentag, Fond du Lac, said.

The auto was stolen from Ryan
Funeral Home, DePere, about 5:30 a.m. Mrs. John McDonough, who saw the car being taken from the funeral home lot, alerted police.

DePere police theorized the foursome was headed for Milwaukee.
Doehler has relatives including his mother and younger brother living there.

Found Summons
Traffic on 57 was held up for more than an hour. The wreckage was cleared at 7:07 a.m. and a mile long string of southbound trucks was allowed to continue travel.

None of the youths had drivers' licenses on their persons. Le Roy Hughes, Calumet County courtoner, said. Hughes found a summons for Pargo to appear in a Green Bay court in October on a charge of driving without a license.

Doehler served a 13-month term at Wisconsin State Reformatory, DePere, as a juvenile offender and was released in September, 1962.

Hughes said Doehler and Pargo

Russians to Buy Canadian Wheat

OTTAWA (AP)—The Soviet Un-wheat-purchase pact in Canadian history, ordering nearly $500 mil-flour for delivery in the next 10½ months.

The order is for 198 million bushels of wheat and flour equal to another 29.5 million bushels.

Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp and S. A. Borisov, Russia's first deputy minister for foreign trade, signed the deal as part of a new three-year trade agreement between Canada and the Soviet Union.

General Assembly on Friday, there were strong reasons to push for a vote on ratification before then. Mansfield said he could not predict when a tally would come,

Republicans Blast Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nine Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee have announced the administration-backed tax cut awaiting House action.

They said it would be "A tax cut on borrowed money" and would amount to only "cigarette money" for the average wage earner.

The Ways and Means Committee approved the bill early last week after months of hearings and it is scheduled for House debate beginning Sept. 24.

In their minority report Friday the nine Republicans rejected

"President Kennedy's claim that planned deficits will produce economic prosperity. . . past experience shows that deficits produce the opposite result."

They contended that a tax cut "of more than $11 billion with no hope of a balanced budget for the foreseeable future is both morally and fiscally wrong."

Hand Me Down Shoes May Harm Child's Feet

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of young children wearing hand-me-down shoes from older sisters and brothers? Is this bad for the child's feet? I was told it was, but only by a shoe salesman. — A. G. L.

Shoes, to some degree, change shape to suit the wearer's feet. Some people toe in, some toe out. Dr. Molner, most are quite average.

Some people walk on the outside of the foot, some on the inside. Some people (especially children!) scuff the toes. Others wear out the heels. Some have wide and some have narrow feet, and I've had first-hand observation of a good many families in which children of the same parents have quite different feet — as well as quite different noses, heights, tastes, etc.

After a child has worn a pair of shoes long enough to need new ones, he (or she) has changed their shape. There are bumps and hills in the inner sole to fit the toes. The shoes have been worn so that they tip a bit this or that way.

Now suppose that these same shoes are worn by another child. The hills and hollows of the inner soles don't fit the feet. This may not matter much in some cases, but it could in others. The new feet could (sometimes) be pushed into a faulty pattern, by trying to conform.

Walk Like Shoes

Or if the shoes have become run over at the heel, the second wearer begins to walk in the same way — because the shoes make him do so.

No, I think that every child should, if it is possible, have his own shoes, and let them conform to whatever shape his feet happen to have.

German Sailor Praises
Friday the 13th After 14 Hours in Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP)—A German seaman rescued by the Coast Guard after 14 hours in bleak Atlantic waters is back on his ship, praising "my lucky day" — Friday the 13th.

Franz Strycharczyk, 26, third engineer aboard the Motor Vessel Freiburg, went topside for a breath of air about 10 p.m. Thursday after a poker session. He was not wearing a life preserver.

The 327-foot ship rolled heavily and Franz went into the briny 800 miles east-northeast of Bermuda.

Franz knew he wouldn't be missed until he failed to relieve the watch at midnight. There was nothing to do but swim. Franz—a 5-foot-8, husky, 185-pounder—did just that.

Every Step Toward Tax Cut Helpful

Stocks Reflecting Approval of Bill By House Group

NEW YORK (AP)—Will federal cuts be too little and too late to do the job originally outlined them—to get the economy moving faster?

Or will they take effect only in time to ease the pains of another recession? One is due in a few months, if you believe the compilations on the length of business cycles.

Tax cuts have taken another step in their slow-motion march from administration idea toward congressional enactment.

Whatever their final effect, each step forward—like their approval Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee—gives business an emotional lift.

This usually shows up first in that most mercurial spot, the stock market. On schedule, the committee's action with its promise of lower tax rates in the future for corporation earnings sent stock prices up Tuesday.

The tax cut proposal has been a talking point in market decisions for more than a year now. At the time of the spectacular stock market crash in May 1962 many feared a recession was being foreshadowed. Tax cuts were talked up big as an antidote.

Business didn't follow the stock market downward and the tax cut proposals were delayed until the start of the new Congress this January. As business picked up this spring pressure for quick tax cuts eased.

The congressional path is still a long one. The House must act on its committee's recommendation. Then the Senate will deliberate. The question now is whether it will act this year or next, and whether its timing will be off.

For a tax cut to have any real impact on consumer buying—beyond the psychological one of great expectations—the actual cut in the amount withheld from paychecks for federal taxes must take place. The checks must actually be larger. For business spending plans to be fattened, a cut in corporate income tax rates must be assured by congressional action.

William Farnum, of the Appleton Cooperative Association, has been elected president of the Appleton Credit Exchange.

Other officers are Lloyd Hansel, vice president, and Mary Gerhart, Credit Bureau of Appleton, secretary.

The three will take office on Oct. 9.

Child Cut on Face In Minor Accident

LITTLE CHUTE—Michael Hibbard, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hibbard Jr., 217 S. Buchanan St., was cut on the left side of his face when a car driven by his mother was involved in an accident about 5:15 p.m. Saturday.

According to police, Mrs. Hibbard failed to stop for an arterial at McKinley Street, and her auto collided with a car driven by Joyce L. Rickert, 18, 438 French Road, Appleton, who was traveling south on Grand Avenue.

Damage to both autos was estimated at about $1,000.

Sophomores Welcomed Officially At AHS Student Council Dance

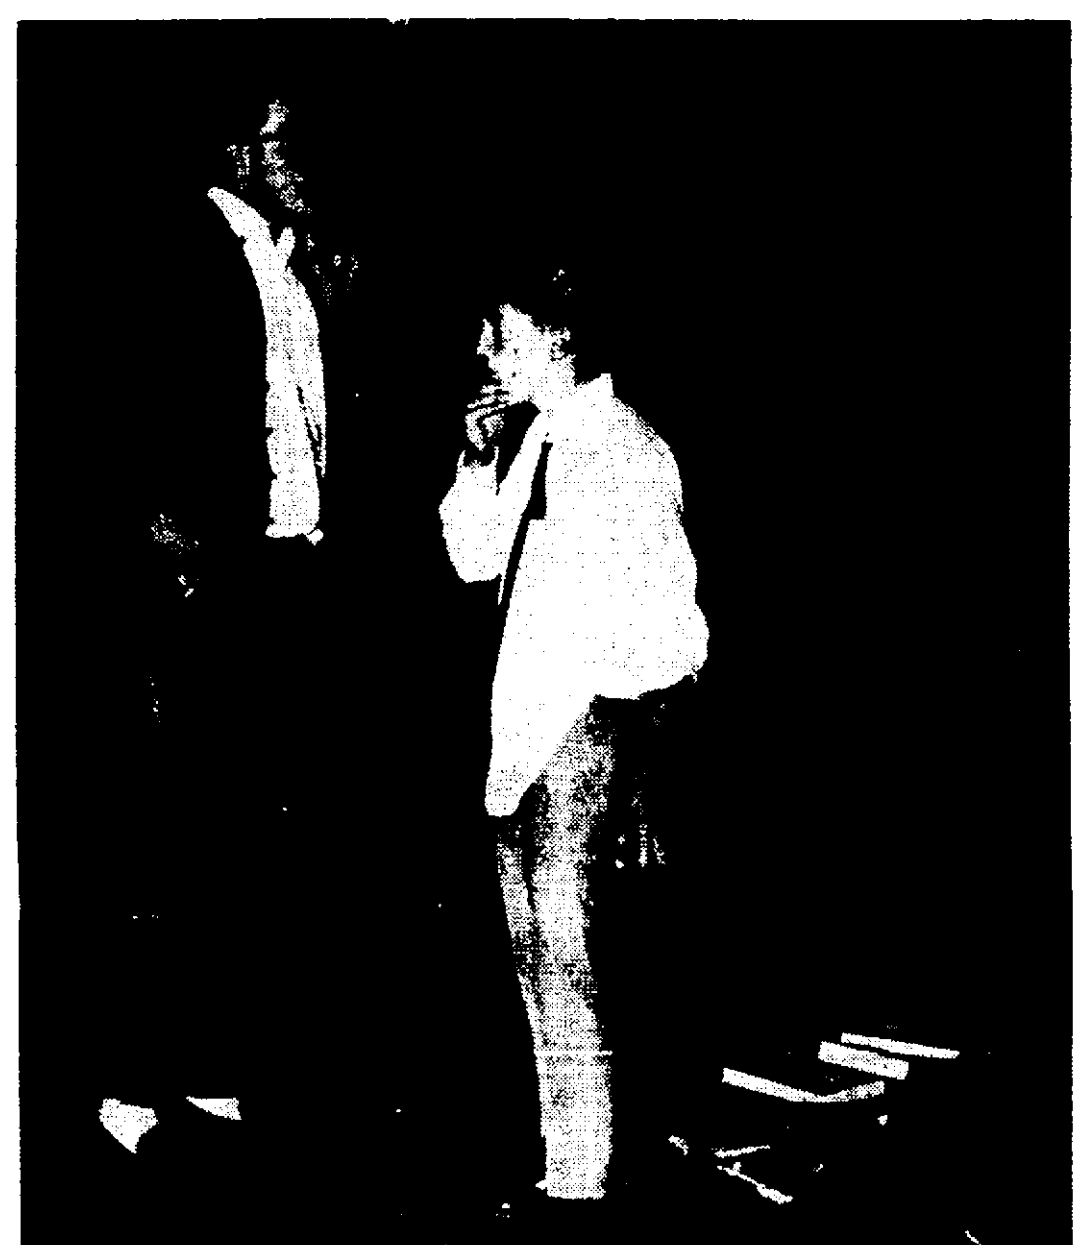

The First Days of a new school term are rather frantic when students are new to a building, to rules, to other students. Now, with those times of gentle teasing about being sophomores over, with the search for Room 234 successful, with the initial meeting of teachers completed and the homework schedule worked out, first year students and transfers at Appleton High School were guests of honor at a Welcome Sophomores Dance Saturday evening in the school gym.

Trisha Gorsky headed the publicity committee; Julie Bassett, entertainment; Ginny Loagn, decorations; Charles Bohl, door; Terry Maves, clean-up, and Stephen Liethen, refreshments.

Marriage Promises Exchanged

CHILTON — Miss Janice Mueller and Roman Schad were married at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at St. Charles Catholic Church, Charlesburg. The Rev. Francis J. Melchior performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clemens Mueller, route 2, Chilton, and the son of Mrs. Joseph Schad, route 2, Kiel, and the late Mr. Schad.

The bride's sister, Miss Leatrice Mueller, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Kenneth Schmitz, New Holstein, and Mrs. Glenroy Franzen, Kiel.

Dinner was served to the immediate family. The Elite Hall, New Holstein, was the setting for a reception, supper and dance.

Mrs. Schad was graduated from New Holstein High School and is employed at Tecumseh Products Co., New Holstein. Her husband, a graduate of St. Gregory High School, St. Nazianz, is employed at A. V. Smith Milling Co., Valders.

After a honeymoon to northern Wisconsin and Wisconsin Dells, the newlyweds will reside at route 1, Kiel.

Play Wide Open in Tournament

When you find yourself in a bad contract at rubber bridge, you often must look for a cautious line of play that will hold the loss down to a reasonable figure. If you played the same hand in a pair tournament you would go all out to make your contract on the sound assumption that you don't win cups for coming home lame.

Opening lead — ♠ 10

Not everybody would have bid the South hand as ambitiously as Noreen Walsh, of Beverly Hills, one of the new young crop of tournament stars. Still, not everybody would have had a partner bidding the spots off the North cards. The net result was a very unlovely slam contract.

Without a diamond lead Mrs. Walsh could have run the clubs to discard dummy's singleton queen of diamonds. Unfortunately, the bidding drew a blueprint for the opponents. West opened a diamond and East took the ace. Now declarer needed the rest.

When East returned a club, Mrs. Walsh resisted the temptation to let it ride to dummy. The slam did not depend on club tricks. South needed finesses in both spades and hearts and had to lead both suits from her own hand.

Takes Club
Mrs. Walsh won the second trick with the ace of clubs and led a heart to win a finesse with dummy's queen. So far, so good.
The next step was to overtake the queen of clubs with the king and lead a spade. West played low, and Mrs. Walsh won a finesse with dummy's jack.
The trumps broke evenly, and one ruff set up dummy's hearts, so all ended well. East and West didn't think it was such a good ending. There's no such thing as people.

Daily Question
Partner opens in third position with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S 8 7 4 2 H 8 4 D K J 4 C A K 7 5. What do you say?
Answer: Bid three spades. The hand is not quite worth a double raise if your partner has bid in first or second position, but partner will not count on you for too much after you pass.

Chimney Light Bulbs

Original lamp chimneys of this shape were merely cylinders of glass which encircled flickering flames, but these are complete modern light bulbs. They're made to screw into sockets in the usual way, but there's nothing unusual about what they do to lamp styling—they make reviving many a treasured old lamp possible and practical, and inspire fixture manufacturers to turn to the kind of styling that has been looked for so long.
Since the lighting industry uses the word lamp instead of light bulb as the rest of us do, the new chameleons are called chimney lamps. The sketch shows two sizes, the smaller 10-, 25- and 60-watt and just less than 6 inches tall, and the larger 60- and 100-watt and over eight inches tall. The chimney lamps are irreplaceable for outdoor lanterns, and anyone who has an old unwired lantern to hang in the house is inspired to have it wired. Fixtures with the chimney lamps are so attractive and atmosphere creating that they just might banish the last of the quaint table lamps — those flights of fancy which perch floucy shades atop spinning wheels.
Mrs. T. T.: "Two years ago, we bought new French Provincial dining furniture which is partly painted Pompeian green, and partly natural wood finished. We've been living with green on the walls which is supposed to match the furniture, but doesn't. It's darker and so dull I think it spoils the Pompeian green. Do you think the walls should be changed to white or yellow? The carpet is beige, not very light, and we have brown stained shutters on the three windows."
As you know, the usual use of soft green on the furniture should be emphasized. Both bright white and bright yellow would dull the green, but you could use off-white or soft light yellow carefully chosen to blend into the beige of the rug. However, a little brighter shade of the furniture green is better for the walls if only because repeating the green increases its importance. It would be worthwhile to have the paint formulated by the best paint color expert available.
Mrs. G. A.: "One long wall of our enclosed porch is covered by five old-fashioned windows, and two more of the same windows complete one adjoining short wall. I'd like to cover the top beam, dining room committee."

Orphaned 15-Year-Old Urges Teens to Honor Their Parents

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a teenage boy who wants to say something to that loud-mouthed kid who said he didn't see any sense in honoring his parents just because they happen to be older. He said his parents are stupid jerks and so are the parents of his friends.
I don't have any parents to honor, but if I did I would honor them plenty. My dad was killed in an accident when I was 11 years old. He was the greatest guy who ever lived. He was only 35 years old when he died but I'm thankful I had 11 years with him.
My mom died last summer. I don't think the ache in my heart will ever go away. She was a truly wonderful woman.
So please, Ann Landers, print this letter so other kids can see it. Let them know they are blessed if they have their parents. And tell them for me that if they are smart they will honor their parents while they are still on this earth. I wish I was so lucky.—Fifteen and Alone
DEAR FIFTEEN: I wouldn't attempt to add a single word to what you have written. Thank you, Son. I wish you were mine.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: A good friend of ours has taken up painting as a hobby. She says it is much cheaper than psychoanalysis and it is doing her twice as much good.

Yesterday she brought over an enormous canvas, expensively framed. It looks like a bull ape from one angle and an abandoned copper mine from the other. It could be hung upside down or sideways and no one would know the difference. She had the nerve to say it was her impression of me. My wife couldn't stop laughing.
I don't want to hang the monstrosity but my wife says it would be a terrible insult if we didn't hang it—especially after she went to the trouble of having it framed especially for our living room. If you think this is a gag let me assure you it is not. I would like your frank opinion.—B.D.O.
DEAR B.D.O.: The picture sounds like a great conversation piece and I hope you will hang it, at least for a while. A sense of humor is what separates man from bull apes and copper mines.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I have just a few inches of your valuable newspaper space to get across a point I had to learn the hard way? It is simply this: The wife who chews at her husband, nags and criticizes him will surely drive him away. No wife ever got love or attention by demanding it. I married at 19—and there was this no greener, more stupid, more self-centered girl in the world than I was. My husband was an attracitive, somewhat serious type who was struggling in the academic field. I felt he was not paying enough attention to me and I accused him of being unfaithful. I kept him up late at night, questioning, arguing. He seldom answered, nor did he attempt to defend himself. One day he quietly told me that I had completely destroyed his love for me and suggested that I file suit for a divorce. I was certain he had another woman (I was wrong) and we split up.

Now eight years later I am 80 years wiser. I'm about to marry a perfectly wonderful man and this time I am going to make home a comfortable and delightful place to be. A place where he will find joy, contentment and peace.—Les-son Learned
Dear Lesson: Thanks for sharing your experience with us. Yours is a letter which should be clipped and referred to often by young wives who are having husband trouble.
Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send your letter to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

So You Gained 10 Pounds!

Many lovelies are wiggling into a dress size that they once slipped into. One of their number, trying on new clothes, was heard to say to the saleswoman, "They must be making dresses smaller. A size 14 always fits me perfectly."

steps. The first of course is a sensible diet. The others are spot exercise, improved posture and proper corsetry. By itself, each step offers a figure bonus. But only all four, in combination, achieve perfection sizing. Let's see why:
—A diet adjusts weight, but its effects on proportions are limited. Weight could be normal and hips outsized.
—Spot exercise distributes weight and firms muscles so that they are enabled to gird poundage.
—Other than grace, the purpose of good posture is that it holds the body in natural balance. Poor carriage develops all sorts of imbalances, and that is what accounts for many of the bulgy spots.
—Proper corsetry both assists posture and the molding of flesh. By "proper" is meant unstretched garments. We proceed from there to corsetry that refines, but never restricts.
Reduce without starving! Send for my purse-sized booklet, "Diet and Like It." For your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

SEAMS TO ME By Patricia Scott

Here are three items that might be needed for the school year.

The fringed denim carryall can be used as a purse or shopping bag. The paisley printed make-up kit will enhance the appearance of any open purse and the trimmed velvet headband is right for all occasions. You might also consider all three as pretty and inexpensive Christmas gifts.

1. Cut a rectangle of fabric 14 1/2" x 24 1/2". For pocket cut a piece 5" x 6".

2. Turn all pocket edges under 1/2 inch and press. Pin pocket to rectangle two inches from bottom (long edge) and one inch from side edge. Stitch in place. Stitch again one inch from edge to form pencil slot.

3. Fold rectangle in half, wrong sides together, so bag measures 14 1/2" x 12 1/2". One side edge will be the fold and the other side will be the open raw edges. Stitch the open side in a 1/4 inch seam. Turn seam to 1/4 inch. Turn bag inside out and stitch seam again. Turn top edge under 1/4 inch and again 3/4 inch and stitch for hem.

4. Cut two handles 14 1/2 inches long and 2 1/2 inches wide. Press all edges under 1/4 inch. Fold in half lengthwise and top-stitch very close to edge. Place handles on bag 2 1/2 inches from fold on one side and 2 1/2 inches from seam on the other side and stitch.

5. With bag turned right side out, stitch the bottom edges together 1 1/2 inches from the raw edges. Make another row of stitching 1/4 inch from the first. Pull threads up to the stitching to form the fringe.

MAKE UP KIT

1. Cut two rectangles of fabric 11" x 8" and two more the same size of lining fabric. Stitch lining and fabric together 1/4 inch from all edges. Press under one long edge of each piece 1/4 inch.

2. Using a 9-inch zipper, sew the pressed edges to the zipper tape so that the zipper is one inch from each end of the fabric. Sew close to the zipper teeth and edges of fabric.

3. With wrong sides together, stitch rectangles together with a 1/4 inch seam. Turn seam to 1/4 inch and turn kit inside out. Stitch again, enclosing the raw edges. Turn right side out and press.

VELVET HEADBAND
1. You'll need a strip of velvet ribbon 22 inches long and 2 inches wide and an 8-inch strip of round elastic.

2. Turn under raw ends of ribbon 1/4 inch and again 1/2 inch. Stitch to form a casing at each end. Slide elastic through the casings. Tie elastic ends in a knot and slide knot in the casing.

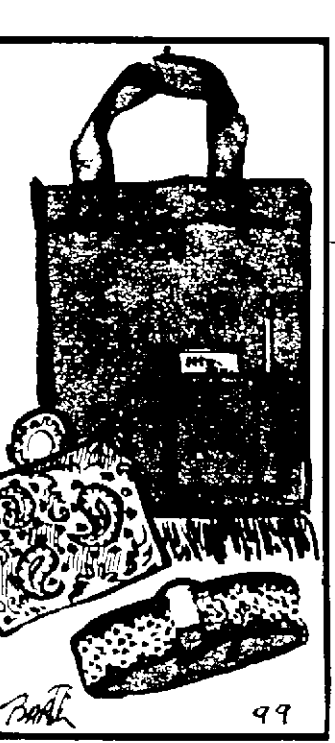

3. This headband is trimmed with a wide band of cotton lace, but you can trim it in any way you wish and to suit the occasion for which you plan to wear it.

The Ailing House Coating on Coffee Pot

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q My chrome coffee maker has developed a black coating on the inside. It is very stubborn and doesn't come off completely with steel wool pads. Is there any way to remove this discoloration?

A Yes, a stain remover for tea and coffee stains on plastic ware can be used following manufacturer's directions on the container. It is a white powder to be added to water in the coffee maker and boiled up. Available at housewares and hardware dealers and some variety stores.

Q We repainted the ceiling and woodwork in the bathroom and used paint remover afterwards to get several large paint splatters off the plastic tile walls. Now those areas of the tile are dulled. How do we restore the shine to the surface?

A Try rubbing the dulled areas with a paste made of fine powdered pumice or powdered chalk and water then polish with a clean soft, dry cloth.

Q Our college son wants to use the finished room over our attached garage as a study and guest room. In winter the floor is very cold. There is asphalt tile on the floor. How can we insulate the floor?

A Place thick moistureproof blanket or batt-type insulation between the ceiling beams of the garage. Putting down carpeting over padding, should also help keep the floor warm.

Q We have a small brick terrace at the rear of our home. This develops slippery moss on the surface during the warm, humid weather. How can we remove the moss and prevent its return?

A Scrub the bricks with a stiff brush and a strong detergent or chlorine bleach solution followed by ample rinsing with clear water. Then apply a liquid waterproofing preparation available at masonry supplies and large hardware dealers or a liquid mildew proofing preparation available at some large housewares or marine supplies dealers.

If large trees or shrubbery provide shade for the terrace, I suggest thinning out to permit entrance of some sun and to improve air circulation in area.

Q The grouting between tiles at the lower part of the wall around our tub-shower is darkening. How can this be lightened?

A A new cleaner for the grouting between tiles is available in aerosol form at some large housewares and hardware stores. Applied to the grouting its foaming action cleans and brightens the cement. Or scrub the grouting with a household bleach and a small stiff toothbrush or other small brush. Then flush generously with clear water to remove all trace of the bleach.

$8,000 Cash Taken From Savings, Loan

$30,000 in Checks Gone At Kimberly

KIMBERLY — An estimated $8,000 in cash and nearly $30,000 in checks were stolen from Kimberly Savings and Loan Association sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Paul Wydeven Insurance Agency, adjacent to the savings firm, also reported money stolen, but no amount has been determined yet.

The break-in was discovered by village patrolman Chris DeLeeuw about 9:25 p.m. Sunday when he noticed the rear door of the savings firm open. He checked the interior of the building and found debris scattered about the inner office and an 18-inch hole chopped into the side of the safe.

FBI agents have been sent to assist with the investigation, because the savings firm is insured by Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Removed Screen

Police said the thieves apparently removed a screen from a rear basement window, used a bar to open it and then dropped into a basement washroom, climbed the stairs and entered the office section.

Burglars then forced open a locked door and tore through pressed paper, siding, an eight-inch concrete block wall and plywood paneling to get into the safe.

Once inside, police said, they had to force open locks on metal cabinets where the money was kept. Papers, checks and small coins were strewn about the office and inside the safe.

Police said the back door, which was found open, had been unlocked by the thieves when they left the building. The burglars apparently were interested only in the safe, because nothing else in the building had been disturbed.

Patrolman DeLeeuw said he checked the door of the building at about 10 p.m. Saturday, and found nothing wrong.

Thieves Cut This Hole Through pressed paper, siding, one-inch boards and an eight-inch concrete wall block to get to the interior of Kimberly Savings and Loan Association's safe sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 9:30 p.m. Sunday. The burglars took $8,000 in cash, nearly $30,000 in checks, and an undetermined amount of money from the adjacent Wydeven Insurance Agency. (Post-Crescent Photo)

270 Petition Appleton About Rezoning Policy

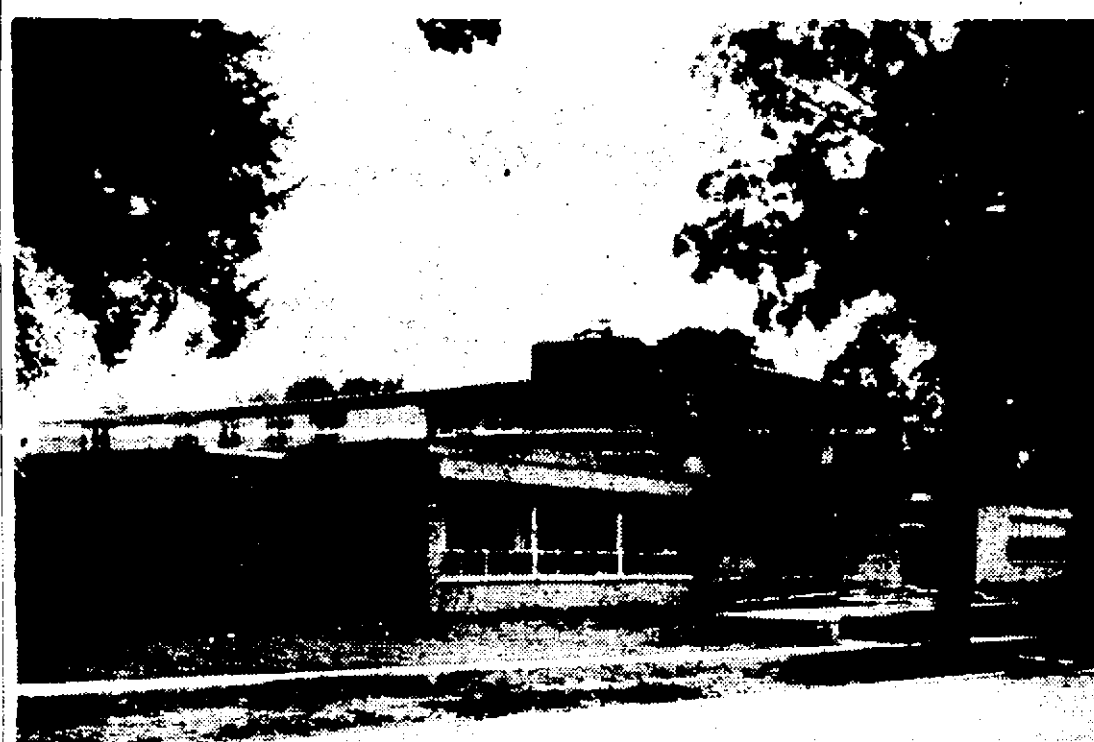

Heavy opposition to the proposed rezoning of property at 711 E. South River St. was received by city officials today in the form of a petition bearing 270 signatures.

The petition-signers said they were opposed to "Appleton's spot-rezoning policy" — specifically that for luxury type apartments which have been proposed for the E. South River Street site.

"We are opposed, on the grounds that this residential area, now zoned for single family dwellings, should not be allowed to serve as an example for more such unplanned apartment construction on Appleton's southeast side," the petition said.

Signers were from all parts of the city. A public hearing on the rezoning will be held before the common council at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Portion of Peabody Manor Placed on Assessment Rolls

Peabody Manor, housing a home for the aged and the operation of the Visiting Nurse Assn., has been placed on the city's tax roll for the first time since it was opened in 1961. That portion of the building the home for the aged is in the foreground and was assessed at $269,000. At far right is the wing housing the VNA at 720 W. Fifth St. (Post-Crescent Photo)

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

In a precedent-setting move which may have statewide ramifications, City Assessor John Pierre has placed a portion of the Peabody Manor building on the City of Appleton's 1963 assessment roll.

Pierre contends the part of the building used as a home for the aged is not being operated on a charitable basis because its residents have to pay to live there.

The land was not assessed, nor was a wing which quarters the offices of the Visiting Nurse Association, which operates the home at 720 W. Fifth St.

However, the home for the aged part was listed on the roll for the first time in the amount of $269,000.

Assessment Appealed

The assessment is being appealed to the Wisconsin Department of Taxation by the Visiting Nurse Association.

Atty. Alfred S. Bradford, representing the VNA, has requested the department of taxation to rule that Peabody Manor is a non-profit operation and should not be assessed.

Pierre is on vacation and could not be reached for comment. However, it is known that before placing Peabody Manor proper on the tax roll, he raised the question as to whether it was strictly a non-profit, charitable establishment, and he had been in contact with VNA officials.

Wants Figure

Pierre reportedly asked the association to supply his office with a complete record of operational cost and income figures for the home for the aged. When he did not receive them Pierre proceeded with the partial assessment, it was reported.

On Sept. 3, Bradford sent a letter to the common council's finance committee requesting the Peabody Manor assessment be deferred until a ruling was obtained from state tax officials to determine whether the property is exempt from real estate taxes. However, the property had been placed on the roll.

When the Appleton Board of Appeals met for a week in accordance with state statute, it received no notice of appeal from the Visiting Nurse Association.

Pierre and the VNA are willing to accept the ruling of the department of taxation.

$11,600 Payment

Should the decision be favorable to the City of Appleton, it would result in the VNA paying an estimated $11,600 in real estate taxes based on the current net rate of $43.15 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

In requesting the state to make a decision, Bradford said:

"The city assessor from the City of Appleton has assessed the Visiting Nurse Association on that part of its real estate used by it for operation of a non-profit retirement home for the aged and the VNA, through me as its attorney, respectfully requests a ruling for exemption under Section 70.11.

Exempt State

"The Visiting Nurse Association of Appleton has been exempt by both the state and United States tax departments in the payment of income taxes on the ground that it is a non-profit charitable and benevolent association."

Bradford sent the state a copy of the VNA's articles of incorporation along with the will of the late George Peabody who died in 1910 and bequeathed money for a trust fund.

Peabody wanted a home established for "worthy, indigent, elderly women residing in Outagamie County."

The speech is scheduled for 7 p.m. EDT.

Accounting Error In Hospital's Favor

Discovery Eliminates Need to Transfer Outagamie Funds

A $123,000 "mistake" in accounting in favor of the Outagamie County Hospital has eliminated the need for a transfer of monies from the county's contingency fund to the hospital operating fund.

The "mistake" was found last week shortly after county board supervisors approved transfer of $65,000 from the contingent fund to meet the payroll and operating costs for one month.

The error was blamed on an accounting practice at the county courthouse in which about $16,000 to $18,000 monthly has been listed under the wrong heading for the past seven months.

Wrong Heading

According to Hospital Supt. John Engel, who met with the county's executive committee today, the county courthouse accounting department has been placing the figure under a revenue heading and it should have been under a pro-rated expenses heading. The money was received monthly by the hospital and was for pro-rated costs incurred by the hospital's Golden Age Home.

County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer said today the executive committee Tuesday asked for the transfer of funds after examining the courthouse records and finding that the hospital would not have funds unless the transfer was made.

Engel said accounts kept in the county hospital offices showed the correct figure and he was surprised to learn that funds had to be transferred. He said, to the best of his knowledge, the hospital is being operated under budget for this year.

Lack of Communications

Engel blamed the misunderstanding on a lack of communications by the county committee which went ahead and asked for the transfer without asking approval of the hospital head or trustees.

A meeting had been set up with the county hospital trustees and the executive committee for Wednesday, the day following the board action, and, according to Engel, the action could have been brought up then and the problem resolved.

The resolution seeking the fund transfer was drafted Tuesday during lunch hour and was presented to supervisors Tuesday afternoon.

Name Acting Electrical Inspector

Joseph N. Schoenhaar, 2306 N. Meade St., will assume the duties of Appleton electrical inspector Oct. 1.

The disclosure was made today by Mayor Clarence Mitchell, who said he has appointed Schoenhaar acting electrical inspector as of that date.

Fred Volkman, who has been the city inspector for several years, recently announced his retirement plans.

Schoenhaar, a veteran city employee with considerable field work and administrative experience, is presently the assistant electrical inspector.

In keeping with its policy, the common council recently gave authorization to have the city advertise for applicants for the inspector's job. Candidates will take written examinations supplied by the State Bureau of Personnel.

500 Center Students Begin Classes in New Facilities

Fox Valley Addition Gives School a Capacity of 750

The University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center started fall semester classes today in a building almost doubled in size and student capacity by the opening of the new $400,000 addition.

The new addition increases the center's capacity from 400 to 750 students, and makes possible the offering of new courses and more cultural activities.

About 500 freshmen and sophomores were expected to start classes today. The center was operating above capacity last year with an enrollment of about 475 students.

The new addition and related remodeling in the original building have increased the number of classrooms from five to 12, the number of faculty offices from 16 to 30, and added three laboratories, an engineering drawing room, a multi-purpose room with a stage, new lockers and a new lounge.

The multi-purpose room will seat 490 persons. It has a permanent stage, which will be fully equipped by October, with a set, construction area and dressing rooms. The room will be used as a lecture hall and for fine arts and dramatics programs. It is equipped with movable chairs so that it can be cleared and used for social functions.

Ten new classrooms were added in the new wing. One seats 90 persons and can be subdivided for smaller groups. Another seats 35 persons, and the others seat 30 persons.

New Laboratories

The addition also includes a geography laboratory, an art room, an engineering drawing laboratory, a new locker area, and 12 faculty offices for two persons each in a small wing to the north.

Extensive remodeling was undertaken in the original building this summer. Two classrooms were converted to a quantitative and organic chemistry laboratory and a third classroom was made into a balance room for chemistry and an office. This change was part of the original planning, and the pipes and cables for water, electricity and gas were stubbed into the two classrooms which now are joined as the laboratory when they were built.

Cafeteria Changed

A former locker area has been converted into a student lounge, and the combined cafeteria and lounge now will be used only as a cafeteria. The geography-engineering drawing room in the old wing has been converted into a second biology laboratory.

The new addition is to the north of the original building. The multi-purpose room is at the front of the building, and the classroom wing extends back parallel to the original wing. In the court formed by the two classroom wings, a small combination greenhouse and animal house for zoology and botany classes has been built.

Begins 4th Year

As the center starts its fourth year at its location on Midway Road, it is able to offer the first two years of all university majors, with the exception of a few of the more exotic subjects. With its new facilities, the center can give the complete freshman and sophomore years of the programs in engineering, medicine and chemistry for the first time.

New courses being offered this fall include quantitative and organic chemistry, creative design, French composition and conversation, fundamentals of music, music appreciation and history, music instrumentation, Economics I, a political science course in state government and a speech course in oral interpretation.

County Police Interrupt Discussion on Services

A "discussion" over the merits of the Marine Corps as opposed to those of the Army indirectly led to the arrest of four persons early Sunday morning at a Nichols dance hall.

Outagamie County police and sheriff authorities went to the dance hall after a fight between a Marine and a former soldier broke out during a wedding party. The fight was over which service was the best.

County Patrolman Robert Keating, who was first to arrive at the scene after Dance Hall Deputy David Halliday called for reinforcements, reported his license plate was stolen from his patrol car and wiring was removed from his red light fixture on the top of his car.

While Keating attempted to control the crowd at the fight, several onlookers climbed on top of his squad car to get a better view. He said several scratches were found on his car.

When more police arrived, Dennis L. Scheel, 20, Nichols, who represented the Marine Corps in the fracas, drove away and was later arrested by LeRoy Ziegler of the county patrol.

Sheriff Calvin Spice said that Roy Dingeldien, 22, Forest Junction, a former soldier, and Dennis Teschke, 23, 3304 N. Oneida St., Appleton, and Scheel are being held in the county jail. A 16-year-old Madison youth was released.

Moses Montefiore Congregation celebrated its 40th year in the present location and honored Rabbi Gilbert Silverstein on his "Bar Mitzvah" (13th) year with the congregation at a dinner Saturday. Visiting before the dinner, are, from left, Rabbi Silverstein, Mrs. Morris Silverstein, his mother; Maynard Burstein, chairman of the board of the congregation and co-chairman of the dinner, and Morris Silverstein of Chicago, the rabbi's father. Radiance at Its Peak

Miracle of Autumn About to Take Place

BY JAY REED
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

ST. GERMAINE—The north woods are ready to blush like a freshman at a senior prom.

The many-splendored miracle of autumn color is close at hand in northern Wisconsin now. This weekend will be good if you like to see the brilliance of fall from your car window.

But the following weekend, likely, will be even better. On that Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 28 and 29, the radiance of autumn should be at its peak, all current conditions being equal.

Don't Rush

Right now the woods of this north country are much like a woman preparing for a night on the town. She's primping and powdering. You can see splashes of red and rust in a sea of green as you travel highways 45-47 north out of Antigo toward Pelican Lake, Monico, Three Lakes and Eagle River. Head west on 70 toward Woodruff and you'll see a queen with a magic crown aglitter with shades of yellow and, in spots, the throbbing red of rubies.

But she's not quite ready yet so don't rush her. Give her a couple of more nights when the temperature sinks and the leaves grow crisp with frost. Perhaps next weekend — or the next.

Then, if the sun shines brightly, you can view from the comfort of your car a radiant display of color the likes of which all the technicians in the world can't duplicate.

Walk in Fallen Leaves

But you'll not know the full magic of this season if you rely only on your eyes. Walk a ridge where the sun will be warm on your back and the wind cool in your face. Listen to your feet shuffle in the fallen leaves.

You'll know the clean, sweet smell of fall. The air will be sharp with just a hint of the winter yet to come and your heart will know the beauty which only your eyes saw before.

Call it colorama, call it magic. It makes little difference. It adds up to one of the most glorious events in all of nature's radiant cycle.

And it's all for you.

Mrs. Leonard Dale's Religion Manual Receiving Many Orders

Orders have been received from almost every state in the union for a new religion manual for mentally retarded children, written by Mrs. Leonard Dale, 20 Foster Court.

The manual, entitled "Come Unto Me," was written by Mrs. Dale after her experiences last year in organizing a religion class for exceptional children at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The religion class for exceptional children will be offered again this year, starting at 10 a.m. Saturday at Sacred Heart School. The class is planned for all children who are unable because of physical or mental handicaps to attend regular religion classes. It is open to children in all Appleton and area parishes.

For the first time this year, provisions will be made in the class for deaf children. This is the only class in the area which provides for deaf children, Mrs. Dale said.

12 Students

Teachers of the class will be about 12 high school girls, working under Mrs. Dale. Supervisors will be Mrs. Gerald Vallard, Mrs. Henry Paul, Mrs. Elizabeth Farrell and William McKenzie.

Parents interested in registering their children should contact Mrs. Dale.

Mrs. Dale, who is chairman of Confraternity of Christian Doctrine (CCD) teachers at Sacred Heart, first organized the class for the retarded children last year. Twenty-six children from area parishes were enrolled.

"The need was obvious, but there was no material," she said. "The book we had was not satisfactory."

Mrs. Dale, who has a bachelor's degree in elementary education and taught kindergarten in Des Plaines, Ill., took a graduate education course entitled "Introduction to Mental Retardation" at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center, and wrote "Come Unto Me" as a term paper for the course.

Book Evaluated

Dr. LeRoy Aserlind, the instructor, took the book to the office of special education at the University of Wisconsin in Madison. There it was evaluated by several members of the President's Panel on Retardation, and this group encouraged her to publish it.

The book has 32 lessons of one hour each. Each lesson has two plans, one for trainable children with I.Q.s of 25 to 50, and one for educable children with I.Q.s of 50 to 75. The lessons are divided into short periods of prayer, doctrine, activity and music.

The book is prepared for use by teachers or parents of mentally retarded children. Mrs. Dale said it is planned so that a parent can use it without searching for materials to supplement the lessons. It includes the necessary prayers and art drawings and activities for the children, and suggestions for starting a class and grouping the children.

Encourage Others

The purpose of the book is to encourage others to start classes for the retarded, Mrs. Dale said. "Very little is provided for them, and the children gain much from having weekly religion classes."

Five hundred copies of the book were printed in Appleton three weeks ago, and orders for it have come in from almost every state in the nation.

In the back of the book are pages for criticism of each lesson by the teachers or parents. In two years, after criticisms have been received and others' experiences studied, Mrs. Dale hopes to revise the book and have it published.

The Rev. Henry Bedessem, former Sacred Heart CCD director, collaborated with Mrs. Dale in producing the book. She wrote the musical compositions with assistance from Sister M. Felix, S.S. The original art drawings are by Mary Jane Hamerski of Mount Mary College, Milwaukee.

2 Menasha Boys Satisfactory After Separate Mishaps

MENASHA — John Grubb, age 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Grubb, 616 10th St., Menasha, was reported in satisfactory condition this morning at Theda Clark Memorial Hospital where he was taken late Sunday afternoon after being run over and placed under a farm tractor at the rear of 612 Tenth St., Menasha.

Police, called to the scene shortly after the accident, were told the boy was playing on the tractor and accidentally struck the starter, causing the tractor to move forward. The boy apparently fell from the seat under the left wheel. The tractor wheel apparently passed over the boy's leg and wedged him behind the wheel between the tractor and a grass seeder attached to the tractor.

John was rushed to Theda Clark Memorial Hospital by Lindy's Ambulance. His left leg was broken but otherwise he escaped with bruises.

Six-year-old Patrick McCoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCoy, 964 Seventh St., Menasha, was reported in satisfactory condition this morning with internal injuries he received when he was hit by an auto Thursday afternoon while he was crossing the street at the Third and Appleton Street intersection.

Magic's Timeless Appeal Shown At Houdini Club Performances

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The timeless appeal of a well-staged magic show was demonstrated anew Saturday evening as the Houdini Club of Wisconsin, Inc., presented the first of two Silver Jubilee performances before a capacity audience at Appleton High School auditorium.

With veteran comedian George Johnstone acting as master of ceremonies, and master manipulator Neil Foster heading the bill, the Silver Jubilee Show fulfilled every expectation of its sponsors, the North Side Advancement Association.

Spectacular Effects
True, the show got off to an uncertain start with the Sue Charles Dancers, a precision dance team that proved in its first number to be anything but precise.

But before long, Roy Houston, an accomplished young technician with considerable promise as a showman had shocked the audience first into silence, then applause with two spectacular visual effects, "The Girl Without a Middle" and "The Burning of the She-Devil."

Houston also scored with a somewhat over-long "Dancing Handkerchief" effect and baffled the groundlings with a sword cabinet routine in which he wrecked a picturesque vengeance on an assistant who had just performed an exotic Oriental dance.

Given better routing and sharper pacing, Houston & Company would have a remarkable act in deed.

Human Volcano

Next on the program was Ted Weston, flamboyantly billed as the "human volcano." Working in pantomime, Weston proceeded to offer an excellently-routinized fire-eating act with humor, timing and admirable skill.

Whether Weston was producing an apparently endless succession of puffs of smoke, lighting torches from flames held in his mouth or gulping large amounts of alcohol for his flaming finale, his technical prowess and iron nerve held the audience in the silence of stunned admiration.

Ron Fable, highly-publicized young escape artist, appeared briefly to emerge with no apparent effort from a packing crate constructed as a challenge by workmen at a local lumber company. Ron Rogers, president of the Houdini Club, introduced Fable, and proved, by his smooth management of the act, the advantages of teaming a veteran showman with an aspiring performer.

High point of the Jubilee Show for this reviewer — as for many in the audience — was the superlatively polished "turn" of Neil Foster, a Colon, Mich., sorcerer whose artistry and absolute control truly earn him the billing of "world-renowned manipulator supreme."

Foster Excellent
Few magicians and laymen in the audience ever will forget this

Drivers Admit Being Drunk Combined Locks, Milwaukee Men Lose Licenses

Two drivers pleaded guilty to charges of drunken driving in separate Fox Cities courts.

Fred L. Johnson, 33, 2803 W. Wisconsin Ave., Milwaukee, was fined $150 or 45 days in the Winnebago County Jail by County Judge James Sitter this morning.

His driver's license automatically was revoked.

Robert D. Angell, 22, 528 Woodlawn Court, Combined Locks, was fined $125 and lost his driver's license for one year when he admitted the charge when he appeared before Anton Jansen, municipal justice Friday.

Angell was arrested by village police Sept. 11 when seen driving erratically on State 96 in the village. He did not take a drunkometer test.

Johnson was arrested by Oshkosh police Sunday after an accident on Congress Street in Oshkosh. He declined a breathalyzer test.

Roger Blechl, 28, also of Milwaukee, was fined $10 after he pleaded guilty of riding with a drunken driver.

Neither had paid his fine by 11 a.m. today.

brief, but perfectly-unified act, in which Foster manipulates burning cigarettes, playing cards, billiard balls, handkerchiefs and ultimately, the "Zombie," a mysterious chromium-plated ball that floats in the air and finally disappears, to be displaced by two bouquets of flowers.

In fact, few magicians in the audience will ever again have the temerity to perform the "Zombie" — period. Any other presentation, no matter how polished, must pale before the perfection of Foster's version of the trick.

A comedy turn, in the old-fashioned but delightful style of the inept, gag-spouting conjuror, was provided by emcee George Johnstone, who proved himself a gifted entertainer, capable of getting "yocks" from some of the hoarest chestnuts in the show-business gag bag.

Silken Illusion
Final performer of the evening was John Daniels, a Hollywood illusionist frequently seen on the Ralph Edwards' television show. Daniels offered, in silken style, the visible vanish of a woman suspended from the "ceiling" in a loosely-woven net and a number of other formidable illusions.

In all, the Silver Jubilee Magic Show was an undeniable success, serving to acquaint the general public with the ageless appeal of the art of conjuring and possibly to enroll a few more young people in the ranks of America's amateur finger flingers.

Two Passengers Hurt In Minor Car Crash

Error Favors Hospital Fund

noon Fulcer said the action was taken quickly to avoid being without funds to cover checks written on the hospital account.

Only Information

Present at the meeting today was Alvin Woehler, county administrator and accountant, who said the action Tuesday was done due to a financial crisis discovered by exploring the only information we had available at the time. He was referring to the courthouse funding account which reflected the erroneous information.

Woehler said the meeting today drafted corrective procedures which would eliminate a recurrence of the problem.

Engel said the state audit at the hospital showed that the cost per patient per week has dropped about $2 over last year's cost and that Outagamie County was the only one of two hospitals in the state with a decrease. Cost is down to $35 per patient per week, Engel said. The state average is about $38 and has risen $1.

No Unusual Expenses
Engel said there has been no significant areas which are responsible for the decrease in operation. He said there have been no unusual expenses and the overall operation this year has been good.

Fulcer said the county board action to transfer the funds has been rescinded and that Clerk Mollie Pfeffer has been told not to have the action printed in the proceedings.

Lions Hear Purposes of Youth Group

A panel composed of Ron Kirk, Barbara Utschig and Don Mullen spoke to the Appleton Lions Club today on purposes of the Appleton Youth Council.

The Lions are planning to hold their annual light bulb sale Saturday morning Oct. 5.

Walter Rugland, president of Aid Association for Lutherans and chairman of the 1963 Red Feather campaign, will speak on the topic "Why Have a Community Fund?" to the Appleton Rotary Club Tuesday.

Mrs. Shirley Kuehler of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. will present a talk entitled "The Image You Create" to the Breakfast Optimist Club Tuesday.

Roy Sherwan of American Air Lines Milwaukee will give a talk on the jet age illustrated by colored slides to the Downtown Kiwanis Club Wednesday. His theme will be "On the Edge of the Sound Barrier."

Police to Question Woman on Phone Call

Police today will question an Appleton woman who told police early this morning she had received a telephone call from her husband Sunday night—the first time in nine years she had heard from him.

She said she had taken out a warrant charging her husband with abandonment when he left. The woman did not tell police when she reported the incident what the nature of her conversation with her husband was.

Peabody Manor Given Assessment

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 of the VNA (called a board of directors) which is answerable to Neenah and Menasha." He visualized the VNA, although there were only one or two chapters in the East, as operating the institution.

Monthly Charge
A monthly charge is made to the inhabitants which to date has not been sufficient to meet expenses," Bradford said. There is also in existence an endowment fund of more than $100,000, with the income administered by another committee of the VNA. Bradford said this income is used to help those unable to pay the minimum required monthly charge.

The demand for admittance is reportedly heavy, according to VNA officials who say that if there were another 50 to 75 rooms, they would be filled within a year.

Not Entirely
The VNA is insisting Peabody Manor is not a part of the VNA but is a part of it. "It is not operated for profit but is charitable and benevolent," Bradford said.

Gave Land
On Aug. 8, 1938, the City of Appleton gave deeded land to the Visting Nurse Association with the stipulation that it was to be used as the site of a home for the aged, with construction to commence within a period of five years, or the property would revert back to the city.

Because funds were not sufficient to allow for building of the home and an endowment fund, a charitable drive was conducted and additional money raised.

Peabody Manor was then constructed as a home for the aged and offices for the VNA.

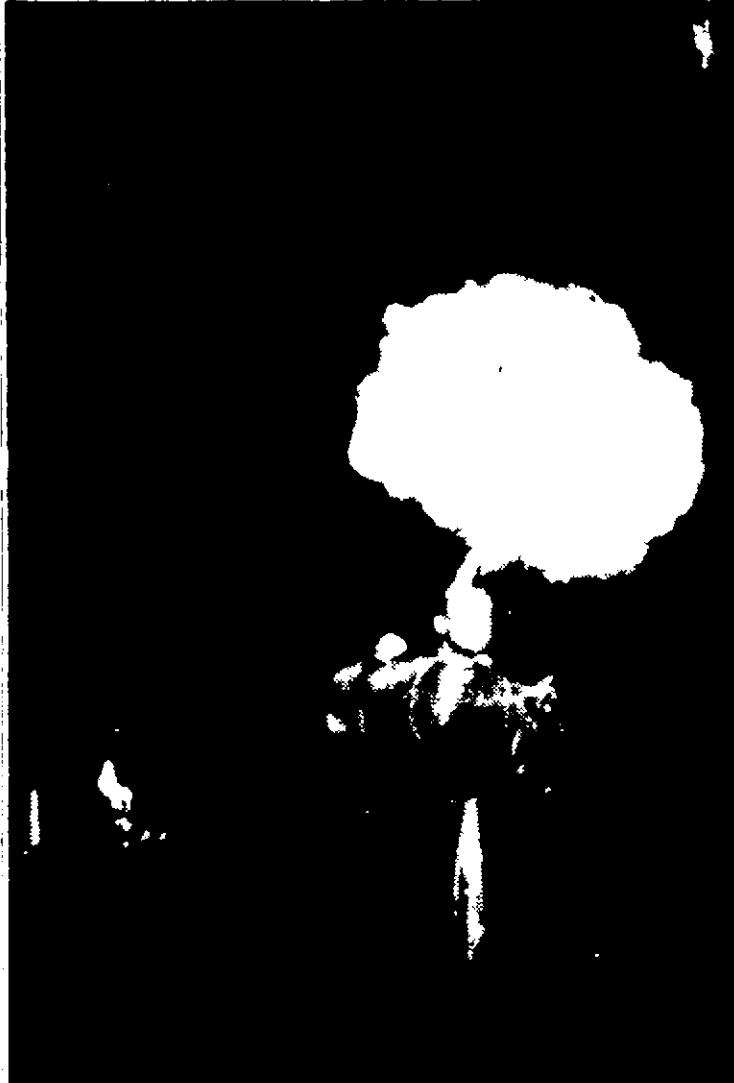

"Necessary" Combination
"The combination of the two appeared necessary to carry out the purposes and intent of the will and also to attain the utmost economy of operation," Bradford said in his appeal to the department of taxation.

Subsequently the east wing of the building was occupied by the VNA and the rest was set aside by the association to the administration of the home for the aged.

Bradford says the home proper is administered by a committee

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Only four players are left from the original Oakland Raiders. And it shows.

The new look American Football League club has played two games, won two games, doubled last year's victory output and entered its name in the Western Division championship sweepstakes.

The man responsible is new Coach Al Davis, who at 33 is the youngest man on his own staff. Quarterback Cotton Davidson, only four years younger than Davis, engineered the attack Sunday, passing for two touchdowns and scoring one as the Raiders overwhelmed Buffalo 35-17 before 17,569 at Oakland.

Denver Leads
The Oakland-Buffalo game wound up a weekend program that began Saturday with San Diego edging Boston 17-13 before 26,097 at San Diego and Houston beat Denver before 22,855 at Houston.

Kansas City and New York were not scheduled. This week's schedule shows Houston at New York, Boston at Oakland and Kansas City at Buffalo, all on Sunday. Of the original Raiders who took the field when the AFL started in 1960, only quarterback Tom Flores, center Jim Otto, guard Wayne Hawkins and linebacker Bob Dougherty remain.

They were on hand as the Raiders endured a 19-game losing streak that stretched from 1961 to the last game of 1962. Now new faces have been brought in.

Davidson connected on 14 of 29 passes for 315 yards, passing five yards to Powell for one TD and 73 to Clem Daniels for another. Daniels also scored on a two-yard run and Davidson scampered five for a touchdown. Jackie Kemp passed 17 and 53 yards to El DuBenion for the Bills TDs. Kemp and Davidson combined for a league record 753 yards in the air.

Climbing Touchdowns
George Blanda kicked two field goals and passed nine yards to Willie Dewveall for the clinching touchdown as the Oilers beat the Broncos. Then, as the Broncos moved down into Oiler territory in the closing seconds, Tony Banfield intercepted a Frank Tripucka pass at the seven-yard line to kill Denver's last chance.

The Chargers put it out of the Patriots reach with two long second quarter passes. Tobin Rote pitched one 43 yards to Lance Alworth, and four minutes later, halfback Paul Lowe took a Rote pitch out and heaved one 71 yards to Jerry Robinson.

Dave Whitsett (23), right cornerback of the Chicago Bears, intercepts a Green Bay pass intended for Max McGee in Sunday's game at City Stadium. The Bears made three other interceptions and scored a 10-3 victory over the Packers in the NFL opening game for both teams. (Post-Crescent News Service Photo)

Burdette Says He Proved He Can Still Win Big Ones

BY JOE REICHLER

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Lew Burdette lay on the rubber table in a corner of the Cardinal clubhouse exhausted and happy. Unlike the hero of a fiction thriller, he was not exhausted beyond movement nor happy beyond words. He had plenty of both.

The long, lean St. Louis right-hander with the solemn face and nervous habits was grinning from ear to ear.

"This game," he drawled in his nasal West Virginia twang, "might have meant my livelihood. You never can tell. Until now, I haven't been able to do the job for this club as I knew I could. Things haven't gone right for me ever since I came. But it's different now. I think I've proved to everybody that I can still win the big ones."

And it was a big one—perhaps the biggest yet—that Burdette won for the Cards Sunday. The 36-year-old pitcher, who was considered washed up by some, con-vined many he still has it when he turned back his former Milwaukee teammates, 3-1, in the front end of a vital doubleheader.

Behind Saddecki
The inspired Redbirds went on to win the second game, 3-0, behind young Ray Saddecki and closed to within one game of the first place Los Angeles Dodgers.

It was the pride in Burdette that was talking, a pride that came from a highly successful major league career that included two 20-game seasons, two that just missed 30 victories and his three World Series triumphs in 1957 against the Yanks.

"I wanted so much to help this club, especially since they gave up two good ball players for me," Burdette said. "But I was a victim of circumstances. Lots of little things didn't go right and I dropped out of the pitching rotation."

"I have no complaints, however, even though I don't think I've pitched too badly. But the other starters have been going great

St. Louis Cards May Lose Gault For the Season

DALLAS (AP)—The condition of fullback Pratice Gault of the St. Louis Cardinals was reported as good Sunday night at the Dallas hospital where he was taken following a kidney injury in the game with the Dallas Cowboys.

It was indicated that Gault had a ruptured kidney and probably won't be able to play any more this season. He may be in the hospital here for at least two weeks and it will be mid-week before a decision will be made on whether he needs surgery.

Gault and I just couldn't seem to break in. I'm grateful to the skipper (Johnny Keane) for giving me this chance and I'm happy I was able to come through for him and for myself, too."

It was only the third game Burdette has won since the Cards acquired him from the Braves June 15 in an exchange for pitcher Bob Sadowski and Gene Oliver. He has lost six during that time. Two of his victories have come over his former mates.

Remarriage Hurt, Rockefeller Says

Governor Interviewed On NBC Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says it's "realistic" to look upon his remarriage as seriously damaging his chances for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

"I have a very deep understanding of the reactions of individuals in this situation," he said Sunday night in a television interview—NBC's "Meet the Press."

"I have no sense but one of feeling for people's concern. I think it is a situation which in political life is difficult."

He expanded his views further today in an interview in U.S. News & World Report. Commenting on his divorce and remarriage he said:

"I think that the reaction on that subject is a highly personal one with all people. Until such time as there is an occasion when they have to make a decision, it's hard to tell exactly what that reaction will be."

Collective Effort
"But when an individual has to make a decision, whether it's in a convention or in the voting booth, then I think that he will bring that factor, along with all of the other factors, into balance and make a decision. The collective effort of all the people's decisions would, of course, give the answer."

He noted that the Gallup Poll now has Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in the lead for the nomination, but said he believes someone else could end up with the big prize.

As for Goldwater, the Arizona said in an AP interview that if he decides to go after the presidential nomination, one of the main reasons would be his belief that as head of the ticket he could help Republicans get elected to the House and Senate in the South, Midwest and West.

"Win, lose or draw, if I were the nominee, I believe I could help get a lot of Republicans elected," he said.

Decision in '64
Goldwater stuck to his position that he won't make up his mind until January about seeking the nomination.

Rockefeller set an earlier timetable. He said in the television interview that he would make his decision by January 1.

'Bomb' Turns Out to Be TV Tube, Amplifier
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A mysterious object confronted police and Army bomb experts Sunday in the parking lot at San Francisco's Palace of the Legion of Honor. The thing was buzzing.

The skunkishers found it wasn't radioactive but they couldn't seem to dismantle it. So they shot it. It stopped buzzing.

The police took it in for further analysis. Inspector Jack Long, an amateur radio bug, took a look at it.

"The thing," Inspector Long said, "is a television tube with a transistorized amplifier. It fiddled with it and it started buzzing again, despite its wounds."

Rutgers Saddened By Oak's Demise

Legend Says Joyce Kilmer Sat Under Tree and Composed Poem

BY JOHN CURLEY

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — The huge white oak believed to have inspired Joyce Kilmer to write "Trees" will be cut down Wednesday, a victim of old age. The tree's demise sounds a sad note for Rutgers University, site of the oak, and for those who say it was the tree Kilmer had in mind when he wrote the poem.

Others say the tree that inspired Kilmer is elsewhere. Mahwah, a community in northern New Jersey where the poet lived four years, contends Kilmer wrote of the trees that shaded his home there.

Different Versions
In Montague City, Mass., they tell how Kilmer wrote "Trees" after seeing a spreading maple in the yard of an old mansion. In Swanzey, N.H., 25 miles north of Montague City, it's thought the late poet penned "Trees" while viewing a group of maples during a vacation.

Belief that the gnarled oak at Rutgers was the tree of "Trees" has grown over the years.

However, a university spokesman admits: "We can't prove it's the one Kilmer had in mind. But then, who can prove an inspiration?"

The legend is that as a boy in New Brunswick and as a student at Rutgers, Kilmer sat under the sprawling oak, its branches spanning more than a hundred feet in near-perfect symmetry. He left here in 1906.

Published in 1913
"Trees" appeared in 1913 in a literary magazine, while Kilmer was living in Mahwah. His wife, Aline, said 10 years later that Kilmer wrote it while living in a white frame house surrounded by tall oak trees.

There's a story told in Montague City that Kilmer was awed by a maple tree in the yard of an old home during his visits to the Rev. Edmund Casey.

Kilmer is said to have written from France shortly before he was killed in World War I that the maple tree in Montague City was the one he had in mind when he wrote the poem. It's not known what happened to the letter.

A letter from a resident of Swanzey to Rutgers says Kilmer spent summers at a Swanzey farm, and once, while sitting on a veranda and looking out toward a grove of maple trees, he scribbled "Trees" on a paper bag.

For some reason, the story goes, he threw the paper bag away, but a maid found the poem.

Fact Not Known
Whether an oak, a maple, one tree or many inspired Kilmer will probably never be known, but the oak at Rutgers, perhaps the best known of the "Kilmer trees," will be on center stage Wednesday.

The oak stands alone in a field enclosed by a small white fence. When felled, it will be stored until a decision is made on what to do with the wood. If the trunk is sound, a cross section will be given to the Sgt. Joyce Kilmer American Legion Post in New Brunswick.

"But there's a question of how much of the trunk is sound and how much is concrete," a university official said.

"We've had hundreds of requests for pieces of wood from the tree," the official said. "Some people have even sent money, offering to buy a piece, but we won't be able to fill the requests."

Last Rites for Hatch Tuesday

New Mexican Had Served in Senate, On Federal Bench

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Former senator and U.S. Judge Carl A. Hatch, the New Mexico Democrat best known for the Hatch Act which prevents millions of federal employees from participating in politics, will be buried Tuesday.

Hatch, 73, died at an Albuquerque hospital Sunday following a long illness. He resigned as a federal district judge in 1962 because of a respiratory ailment. He had served 12 years on the bench.

He was appointed to the federal bench in 1949 by former President Harry S. Truman, a friend and former Senate colleague. Hatch served in the Senate almost 16 years.

During his years in the Senate, he played major roles in early atomic energy policy, labor legislation, public lands policy and was an early supporter of an international peace organization idea which was to give birth to the United Nations.

The road that led him to the Senate included work as a grocery helper, printer's devil, weekly newspaper editor, lawyer and state official.

Kurd Charges British Supplying Iraq With Planes, Light Tanks
PARIS (AP) — An envoy of the rebel Kurds of Iraq on his way to the United Nations charged Sunday that Britain is supplying the Iraqi government with planes, light tanks and other weapons for mountain warfare.

Jalal Al Talabani told newsmen the Kurdish forces control most of the northern mountains, and the government occupies only several large towns. He denied reports that an independent Kurdistan had been proclaimed and insisted the Kurds want only self rule within the Iraqi republic.

Argentine Rail Workers Strike
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Railway workers halted all trains in Argentina Sunday night in a 24-hour strike protesting the government's refusal to grant a 38 per cent wage hike.

The government offered a 21 per cent wage boost, but this was rejected. The state railways had been under partial strike for a week. Two-hour stoppages in each working day shift played havoc with train Taylor a "political general," he schedules.

Youth Reads 40 Times Faster Than Others

Lives in Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Teachers say a Pittsburgh school boy can read 10,000 words a minute, has been clocked at 30,000 on several occasions and once hit 40,000 words per minute.

The ability of Bill Carmack, 17, of the city's Mt. Washington section, was discovered last spring while he was taking a speed reading course at South Hills High School.

In a copyright story today, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette quoted school principal Roy T. Mattern as saying: "He's just one of those people who can glance at a page and tell you what's on it."

Last week Bill demonstrated his reading ability for a reporter. The boy was handed a magazine story about Alexander the Great. Bill started reading. The reporter opened his notebook to record the time Bill started and the boy said: "I'm finished."

Fifteen seconds had elapsed. The article was 1,500 words long. The boy then correctly summarized Alexander's military strategy and gave two dates correctly.

Israel Condemns Demonstrations at Mission Schools
JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP) — The Israel government Sunday unanimously endorsed Prime Minister Levi Eshkol's statement condemning the demonstrations at mission schools in Jerusalem, Haifa and Jaffa last Tuesday.

The government decided to direct police to take all necessary measures to bring all those responsible to trial, and to act vigorously against all unlawful assemblies and violence.

Police arrested 104 youths in Jerusalem last week in connection with demonstrations against the French-directed St. Joseph Convent school. Nine youths were arrested in Haifa and two in Tel Aviv in connection with demonstrations in Haifa and Jaffa.

Bears Stifle Packers' Offense to Win, 10-3

Bays Held to 150 Yards
In Upset; Chicago Ends
Series Loss String at 8

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The Packers and a crowd of 42,327 got the shock of their lives in City Stadium Sunday afternoon.

Green Bay's offense wouldn't work. It was almost unbelievable. The scoring machine that averaged nearly 30 points per start last year stumbled along with only a field goal, a mere 150 yards rushing and passing and just nine first downs.

Maybe it was all a mistake—a nightmare, but the big scoreboards showed the Bears with seven more points than the Packers at the end. The final score was 10 to 3.

Offense Reaches 34
Launching defense of their second straight world championship, the Packers never advanced deeper than the Bears' 33-yard line all afternoon and the defense did that, getting there on Jess Whitten's interception. The offense managed to reach the Bear 34 once and Jerry Kramer stepped back on the 41 to kick a field goal.

Now the Packers face the Lions and their rugged defense in Milwaukee next Sunday. The Lions got off a winning, 23-2, over the Rams Saturday night.

Lion defense? No defense could have been more crushing than the Bears' throttlers who intercepted four of Bart Starr's passes and recovered a fumble by Jim Tayand the visitors then drove 68 yards in 10 plays for the game's only touchdown—a 3-yard smash by Joe Marconi in the third quarter.

The Bears made one other concerted drive—early in the second quarter, moving 66 yards in 14 plays to the Packer 2 where Dave Hanner bumped Bill Wade and Hank Jordan recovered the fumble.

Completes 18 Passes
The two drives were the only liberties the Bears took with the Packer defense. The Bears had 107 yards rushing and 129 passing, with Wade hitting 18 of 24, mostly the short and damaging flare passes to the right or left.

The Packers gained 77 yards on the ground and 83 passing, with Starr hitting 11 of 22.

Penalties were ruinous to the Packer cause shortly after they came forth bristling from the half-time discussion. Willie Wood got a 40-yard runback with a punt to the Bear 35 but the Packers clipped and the ball went back to the

Giants Come Back For 37-28 Win Over Baltimore

Jim Brown Gains 162 Yards;
Vikings Defeat 49ers, 24-20

BY BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Editor

"They beat us." Jim Ringo said it, the first time such a phrase had been uttered in a Green Bay Packer home dressing room in three years.

"We had nothing going," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "We couldn't even get our hands on the ball. We were lucky to get away 10-3."

That was the score by which the Chicago Bears upended the mighty Packers in the surprise of the day as the National Football League got off to its 44th season.

Otherwise, it was business as usual for such standouts as Jim Brown and Y. A. Tittle. Brown ran for 162 yards and scored three times in the Browns' 37-14 romp over Washington before 57,618 in Cleveland and bald, old Y. A. passed for three touchdowns and ran for another in New York's 37-28 comeback over the Colts before 60,029 in Baltimore.

Michaels Misses
Minnesota came from behind and edged the 49ers 24-20 in San Francisco and Pittsburgh had to settle for a 21-21 tie in Philadelphia when Lou Michaels blew a potential tie-breaking conversion, in other Sunday games.

Detroit blasted the Rams 23-2 at Los Angeles and St. Louis upset Dallas 34-7 on the Cowboys' home field in Saturday night games.

The seven-game opening program drew a rousing total of 334,734, an average of 47,819.

The big bomb was dropped in Green Bay. The powerful Packers, gunning for a third straight league title and beaten only once last season, simply never got untracked against the Bears' crushing defense.

Brown, a five-time rushing leader who relinquished the crown to Taylor last year, had a field day against the Redskins. He averaged 10.8 yards on 15 carries, caught three passes for 100 yards, scored on runs of 80 and 10 yards and took an 83-yard pass for another touchdown.

What about the swing pass the Bears used with such telling effect? "We knew they had that secondary, completing 21 of 31 play," the Packer strategist explained. "In fact, we had 'em covered. It was poor tackling that made them go. It was going well for them, so they kept using it."

"They didn't do anything offensively to hurt us," Lombardi went on. "But if you can't score more

Cards Down Braves Twice, Trail Dodgers by 1 Game

Burdette And Sadecki Hurl Wins

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Something the worse for wear after a rough road trip, the Milwaukee Braves returned home today riding a six-game losing streak and fighting desperately to hold fourth place.

The Braves got mixed up in the mad pennant rush of the red hot St. Louis Cardinals during the weekend and were lucky to get out of town alive. The Cards, winners of 10 straight and 19 of their last 20 games, took the Braves four in a row, capped by Sunday's double defeat by scores of 3-2 and 5-0.

The Red Birds, moving to within a game of the first place Dodgers, face Los Angeles in a showdown three-game series opening tonight at St. Louis.

Meanwhile, at County Stadium tonight, the Braves square off in the opener of a three-game series with the third place San Francisco Giants whom they trail by a game and a half. Only a game behind the Braves and tied for fifth are the Philadelphia Phils and the Cincinnati Reds.

Allows 6 Hits

Low Burdette, the transplanted Brave on the St. Louis pitching staff, allowed the Milwaukeeans only six hits in Sunday's opener as he registered his second victory against three decisions with his old mates. One of them was Henry Aaron's two-run homer, his 42nd of the year, in the seventh. Bill White and Ken Boyer contributed homers in Burdette's behalf, their 27th and 23rd respectively.

Manager Bobby Bragan pinned his hopes on left-handers Bob Hendley and Denny Lemaster, but neither lasted. Four pitchers paraded to the mound for the Braves in the first game, five in the second.

Ray Sadecki blanked the Braves on only five hits in the second game and was assisted three Cardinal double plays and a 14-hit attack. Sadecki struck out six and walked four to bring his record to 10-8. Charlie James

Los Angeles Loses to Phils, Begin St. Louis Series Tonight

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Editor

"We've been fortunate in the past. When we play a bad game we turn around and beat someone pretty good," said Los Angeles Manager Walt Alston.

"I can't think optimistically or pessimistically about the pennant race. When you meet head on, anything can happen regardless of how good you're going," said St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane.

They said it Sunday after the lines were drawn for the beginning of a three-game series tonight at St. Louis between the first-place Dodgers and second-place Cardinals that likely will determine the National League pennant winner.

Alston said it following a 6-1 loss to Philadelphia in which three passed balls, a couple of mental lapses and the five-hit pitching of the Phillies' Dallas Green left the Dodgers with a mere one-game lead over the surging Cardinals.

Keane said it after Low Burdette's six-hit pitching and Ray Sadecki's five-hitter gave St. Louis a 3-2 and 5-0 doubleheader sweep of Milwaukee for their 10th straight victory and their 19th in 20 games in a bid to overhaul Los Angeles.

The Dodgers, who led by seven games on Aug. 30, have 12 games remaining. The Cardinals, who have lost only one game since Aug. 30, have 10 left. They're all even in victories, with St. Louis two games back in the lost column.

The pitching rotation looks like this for the three-game series: Los Angeles — Johnny Podres, 13-10; Sandy Koufax, 23-5, and probably Pete Richert, 5-1.

St. Louis — Ernie Broglio, 16-8; Curt Simmons, 15-7, and Bob Gibson, 18-8.

While the Dodgers and Cardinals were in the spotlight Sunday, Cincinnati's John Tsitouris three-hit the Chicago Cubs 3-1, Willie Mays hit his 35th homer as San Francisco walloped Pittsburgh 13-5 and Houston took a pair from the New York Mets 5-4 and 5-0.

Green, a rarely used right-hander brought his record to 6-4 against the Dodgers, allowing the only run on a homer by Tommy Davis in the fourth inning. The Phillies had already put it out of

Pennant Fever Has Cardinal Fans Singing

Ernie Broglio Starts Against Dodgers Tonight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Pennant feverish St. Louisians, excited by the Cardinals' spectacular September surge, were singing "The Yanks Are Coming" today. They didn't mean the Dodgers who arrived to engage the red-hot Redbirds in a vital three-game series, opening tonight that could decide the National League pennant.

The reference, of course, was to the World Series with the American League champions, so sure were these mad Missourians that their beloved Redbirds were going to overtake Los Angeles.

Not since 1942 when the Cards roared from behind to overtake the Dodgers has this city seen anything like this. The swirl of excitement caused by this unbe-

How Are the Ball Joints on Your Car?

Today's cars ride better and are more sensitive to road conditions. They are driven farther and faster than ever before. This causes more wear on the ball joints. Some ball joints are worn out at 35,000 miles. Badly worn ball joints will fall apart and can cause a serious accident. Stop in and let us check your car today and if necessary, we will replace those worn ball joints before you have an accident.

Reasons in Season for TV Programs That Flop

Failures Attributed to Bad Luck, Poor Time Slot; Never Show Itself

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There are no bad television shows. Some are just luckier than others. At least that's the way it seems if one listens to discussions by producers, directors and stars. The most common cause of program mortality appears to be an ailment called "bad time slot." This means that if a program

Outer Limits Invade Your TV Tonight

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — From the moment your television screen begins acting up and a voice announces the viewer has lost control of the set for an hour, you know you are in for a jolly good time watching The Outer Limits, a science-fiction anthology series. It combines great imagination with thrills and chills.

6:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Monday Night at the Movies returns with a new batch of old movies "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing," a 1955 release starring William Holden and Jennifer Jones, is a woman's picture. (Color)

7:30-8 (Channel 2) — "Come A Runnin'" on Vacation Playhouse was made in 1961 by Bing Crosby Productions (which is why Bing sings the show's title song), but it was another show made the same year that sold — Ben Casey. It's a pleasant enough show dealing with a young doctor, his nurse and a small-town pharmacist.

7:30-9 (Channel 11) — Wagon Train expands to 90 minutes and fills the time with two of the most basic whites-captured-by-Indians plots. In one Carolyn Jones is a 13-year-old captive of the Comanches, a tattooed slave. In the other story, Fabian, the boy raised by Miss Jones, can't get used to white men's ways. (Color)

8-9 (Channel 2) — The Comedy Hour Special repeats a funny Jack Benny show with Raymond Burr and Danny Thomas as a pair of guests angry because they were pushed off their shows by Jack.

9-9:30 (Channel 4-5) — The Loyal Opposition with Ray Scherer as host, studies Republican leadership. But most of the show is devoted to interviews with Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and New York's Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

9-10 (Channel 11) — Breaking Point premieres with the second half of a story begun on Ben Casey last week. Scott Marlowe's beautifully heart-breaking performance as a stammering, guilt-ridden, would-be jazz musician will hold your interest completely.

New pep for tired husbands!

No wonder so many women complain that their husbands come home "too tired out to sleep out!" The churning tensions millions of men face on their jobs constantly drain them of the energy and vitality they might otherwise have.

Gene Kelly Unusual, He Liked TV Stint

'Going My Way' Star Has No Complaints About Series Work

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Gene Kelly has a word for the stars of the new season's television shows: enjoy yourself.

"I did," said Kelly, star of last season's ill-starred "Going My Way." "I had a fine time, and I'm glad I did it."

Kelly goes against two traditions. Stars of series are supposed to complain they have been worked to the brink of nervous breakdowns. Stars of unsuccessful series are supposed to ooze bitterness about their shows' demise.

"I don't know why those people who have done series complain about the overwork," Kelly said. "It's our job, isn't it? I didn't feel overworked. I enjoyed what I was doing, and I got to work with some fine actors I never would have worked with otherwise."

"They paid me an awful lot of money for doing work that I enjoyed. Judging from the mail I got, I created a lot of new fans. How can I complain about that?" "When you do a show about a couple of Catholic priests, they necessarily must be passive characters," he reasoned. "It's pretty hard for them to compete with the more aggressive heroes in television. And the show must necessarily be diluted to appeal to the other religions. But I'm convinced the producer did everything he could with the subject."

Kelly is choreographing and appearing in a sequence of "What a Way to Go." Next he will produce "Robin and the Seven Hoods" with Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Sammy Davis Jr. Then Kelly will direct and star with Sinatra in a musical of the '30s, "The New Yorkers."

He's also doing guest shots on the Judy Garland and Danny Kaye television shows.

British Actress Hazel Court said in London that she and American actor-director Don Taylor were quietly married in California last year. They are pictured as they appeared together in a 1960 television show. (AP Wirephoto)

Musical Has Chance To Set Box Office Record for Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — If "The Girl Who Came to Supper" draws capacity audiences next season it will be able to set a new box office weekly gross for White Way playhouses.

The musical, starring Florence Henderson and Joe Ferrer, is booked into the Broadway Theater, the largest legit house with 1,788 seats. At a ticket scale of $9.90 for orchestra seats, the potential intake is $101,645.

Several musicals previously have had a $90 top, but were in smaller theaters.

French Drama on Resistance Now Bound for Broadway

NEW YORK (AP)—The French Resistance forces in World War II are the subject of "Six Men in Question," a Broadway-bound drama that has won Paris praise this season for authors Frederic Dard and Robert Hossein.

It has been acquired for exhibit here by Leland Hayward, who is awaiting completion of a translation before lining up cast and director.

Elmer Rice Play of 1923 to Be Filmed

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Adding Machine," an expressionistic novelty of the 1923 Broadway drama season is finally going to reach the movie screen.

Maureen Stapleton and Sydney Chaplin are to appear in the film version of Elmer Rice's play, that is to be shot here in the autumn on a six-week schedule.

Off-Broadway Play Picked for Movies

NEW YORK (AP)—"Me Can-dido," a successful off-Broadway drama several seasons ago, goes before the cameras this fall as a film feature.

The picture is being made under joint auspices of Walter Reade, Sterling Inc. and Carlton Productions Inc. The story concerns a young Puerto Rican boy whom three families try to adopt.

Ping Pong Ball, Straws, Make Blowing Machine

BY CAPPY DICK

How's your blowing velocity? By building the wind machine which is today's fun-project, you can find out.

Find a discarded table tennis ball. Separate the halves as in Figure 1. Now join them by means of a soda straw; bore holes of sufficient size through each half and pass the ends of the straw through as in Figure 2. Apply household cement to hold the halves in place. Note that the open sides of the halves face in opposite directions.

The crosspiece you have built must now be attached to an upright straw, also as in Figure 2. Push a thin, round piece of wood into one end of the upright straw.

Find the exact center of the crosspiece and at that point press a straight pin through the straw, then into the wood. The pin must be pressed far enough to hold the crosspiece reasonably level while permitting it to turn freely.

Stand the upright straw in a small dish of modeling clay in a small

Set the machine on a table and blow at that half of the ball facing you. The crosspiece will spin, bringing the open side of the ball's second half into line with your blowing. If you have properly balanced the crosspiece, the machine will continue to spin as long as your breath holds out. It works practically the same as the wind velocity machines used by the weather bureau.

Take a deep breath and see how long you can keep the machine going.

Group Proud Of Rabinovitz Appointment

Some Democrats in Wisconsin Grumble About His New Post

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — The Democratic state committee wants it known that it is proud and pleased that David Rabinovitz of Sheboygan has been named the new U. S. district judge of the western district of Wisconsin by President Kennedy.

The Rabinovitz nomination, not yet confirmed by the U. S. Senate, has caused extraordinary grumbling in some sections of the Wisconsin Democratic party and has been received with notable coolness by the bar.

Fit Choice

But the state party committee meeting here Sunday declared in a resolution that the Democratic national committee member of Wisconsin was a fit choice and that Rabinovitz has "a long and honorable reputation as attorney and as public leader."

In another development, the committee indicated that it will use as a major issue during the next campaign the civil rights question which is raging nationally.

The party announced that a civil rights conference under its sponsorship will be held here Oct. 19. David Fries of Watertown, chairman of the plans committee for the event, said it would highlight all problems of minorities, from education to employment, voting rights and others.

Non-white groups in Wisconsin probably represent less than three per cent of the population, but the minorities have given increasing support to the Democratic party. The Milwaukee Democratic party organization is now working out plans for increased registration of Negroes. Most of the Negro population of the state is concentrated here.

Chairman Louis Hanson of the committee, when asked the question directly by a member of the group, explained that Deputy Chairman James Buckley, a salary officer of the party, would be required to resign before running for congressman in the new ninth district of Milwaukee and suburbs created by legislation this year. Buckley wants to run, but he has explained that he cannot announce his aspiration until he finds another job to support himself.

The committee approved a resolution hailing the "great honor" to Wisconsin represented in the recent appointment of State Tax Commissioner John Gronowski as U. S. postmaster general.

Funeral services will be held in Minneapolis Tuesday, with burial in Wausau.

25-Cent Dividend Declared by Trane

A quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents per share on common stock was declared Sept. 9 by the board of directors of the Trane Company, LaCrosse, payable Nov. 1 to stockholders of record Oct. 16.

Trane is a manufacturer of air conditioning, heating, ventilating and heat transfer equipment. Dividends totaling $1 payable in 1963 have been declared by the company.

Scattered Showers and Thundershowers are forecast Monday night over the north Pacific coast states, the northern Plateau and portions of the central Plains, the southern Plains and western Gulf regions. The rest of the country will be mostly cloudy. It will be cooler over the north and central Atlantic coast states. Warmer weather will prevail over the middle Mississippi valley. The rest of the nation will remain unchanged. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Flood Damage Costs Sought

Information Wanted On Wolf, Embarrass 1952, 1960 Floods

NEW LONDON — A house-to-house canvass will begin by U.S. Army engineers here Monday, Sept. 30, to determine damage caused by the flooding Wolf and Embarrass Rivers when they went out of their banks in April 1952 and May 1960, according to the Chicago district office, Corps of Engineers.

Making the survey will be Carl W. Hessel and Larry G. Boettcher, Chicago, members of the planning and reports branch. The men will carry identification and credentials for presentation on request.

Individuals who suffered flood losses during either 1952 or 1960 and have not been included in a flood damage report are urged to contact the engineers at the Elmwood Hotel.

Typical losses to be reported include damage to buildings, foundations, basements, living quarters and contents, loss of wages, cost of living elsewhere, damage to minor buildings and contents, costs of flood-fighting and cleanup.

Flood damage reports will be used only for an economic analysis of flooding at New London.

State Criminal Investigation Bureau to Form

MADISON (AP)—A State Division of Criminal Investigation, operating under the attorney general, will be set up in Wisconsin to combat organized crime.

Gov. John W. Reynolds signed into law a bill setting up the agency which will have investigators all empowered with police arrest authority. Their salaries will range from $8,000 to $10,000.

Reynolds praised members of both political parties for passing the legislation.

"I have long felt," he said, "that the problem of statewide crime is a serious one and that the state is without the tools to cope with it."

Negroes Return To School in Virginia County

Units Have Been Closed Down for Almost 4 Years

FARMVILLE, Va. (AP)—Negro children return to school in Prince Edward County today for the first time since public schools were closed four years ago to avoid desegregation.

The children are attending free private schools set up only a month ago at the urging of President Kennedy.

Trustees of the Prince Edward Free School Association expect between 1,200 and 1,600 Negro pupils to enroll.

At least two white children were to join the Negroes in the first classroom integration in Prince Edward. They are Richard D. Moss, 17, son of Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, dean of Longwood College, and an outspoken critic of the school closing; and Letitia Tew, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tew of Throck. Tew is a tobacco farmer.

White children in Prince Edward have attended private segregated schools since 1959. They must pay tuition.

The free schools were set up as a one-year emergency measure while the 11-year-old legal battle against segregated public schools is carried back to the U.S. Supreme Court.

One of Four Cases
The Prince Edward case was one of the four that made up the Supreme Court's original 1954 desegregation decision.

Officials of the free schools have organized a complete school system in a month's time. Principals of three of the four schools were named only Saturday.

The six-man biracial board of trustees of the school association was organized last month with backing from the state and federal governments. Former Virginia Gov. Colgate W. Darden heads the board.

One of the board's first acts was to name Neil V. Sullivan as superintendent. Sullivan, 48, took a year's leave of absence as a school superintendent at East Williston, Long Island, N.Y.

The children will attend four public schools leased from the county. Buses also were leased from the county.

Merger Appears Near Between Two State Beer Producing Firms

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Merger negotiations between the Independent Milwaukee Brewery & Co. and the Milwaukee Beer Co. are nearing completion, Independent officials said Friday.

While making the announcement, the spokesmen declined to identify the other brewing firm. There was speculation that it was the G. Heileman Brewing Co. of La Crosse. Heileman officials could not be reached for comment.

H. Newman Bills, executive vice president and secretary of the 63-year-old Independent firm, gave notice of the merger in telegrams sent to the brewer's 80 distributors in Wisconsin, Ohio and northern Illinois.

Bills said the negotiations were expected to be completed within 30 days.

A cartoon illustration by Duke McFadden. In the foreground, a man in a light-colored shirt and dark tie sits at a large desk, looking up at a man standing before him. The standing man is dressed in a dark suit and glasses, with a confident expression. On the desk are a rotary phone, a calculator, and some papers. In the background, another man sits at a desk, and a filing cabinet is visible on the left. The cartoon is signed 'Duke McFadden' and dated '9-16'.

Three Fox Valley men have been named to a delegation to represent Wisconsin at the annual meeting and scientific sessions of the American Heart Association to be held Oct. 25-29 at Los Angeles, Calif., according to Dr. Charles W. Crumpton, Madison, president.

Dr. William B. Hildebrand, Menasha, Robert L. Bittner, Green Bay attorney, and Dr. Hugh J. McLane, Fond du Lac, will participate with professional and lay association leaders of the nation in discussion of the newest developments in the effort to control and conquer diseases of the heart and blood vessels.

$40,000 Collected For Sen. Proxmire

850 Persons Attend $50-a-Plate Dinner for Wisconsin Democrat

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MILWAUKEE — The re-election campaign of William Proxmire, Democratic senior senator from Wisconsin, started here last night with prospects as encouraging as any Democratic politician has had in modern times.

Perhaps $40,000 was deposited in the campaign treasury of the man who is by all odds the most energetic politician now practicing in Wisconsin at an "appreciation dinner" attended by more than 850 persons who paid $50 a plate.

The contribution dinner was the first ever held by the man who started his career by winning a senate seat in a 1957 special election, after three vain campaigns for the governorship that established a Wisconsin rule for pluck and perseverance.

But perhaps more reassuring to the senator was the fact that there is yet no knowledge of the name of the Republican who may contest his right to hold the seat for the next six years.

There was a note of exultance which ran through the Pfister Hotel crowd as party loyalists provided their willingness to back again the man who achieved the historic breakthrough for the Democrats in Wisconsin politics six years ago.

Patrick Lucey, campaign manager for Proxmire in 1957 and recently retired boss of the Democratic state organization, remembered that six years ago Democrats would have found it difficult to raise a crowd for Proxmire "if we had paid them $50 a seat."

Lucey with tongue in cheek explained that he was hopeful that Proxmire would run again.

"If he doesn't we'll have to give this money to some obscure charity," he cracked.

The speaker of the evening was Sen. Warren Magnusen of Washington, one of the most popular men of the U.S. Congress, and a Democrat whose loyalty to the New Frontier prompted him to joke in turn about Proxmire's effort to campaign as a conservative on national fiscal policy and his self-chosen stance as an independent and maverick.

Big Spenders

"The rest of us are big spenders," said Magnusen as he spoke of congressional Democratic policies in a good natured rib of Proxmire whom he described as "trying to save every dollar he can."

Magnusen briefly touched on the major issues before the country.

On Cuba, he said, "I'd like to charge up San Juan Hill, if anybody would go with me."

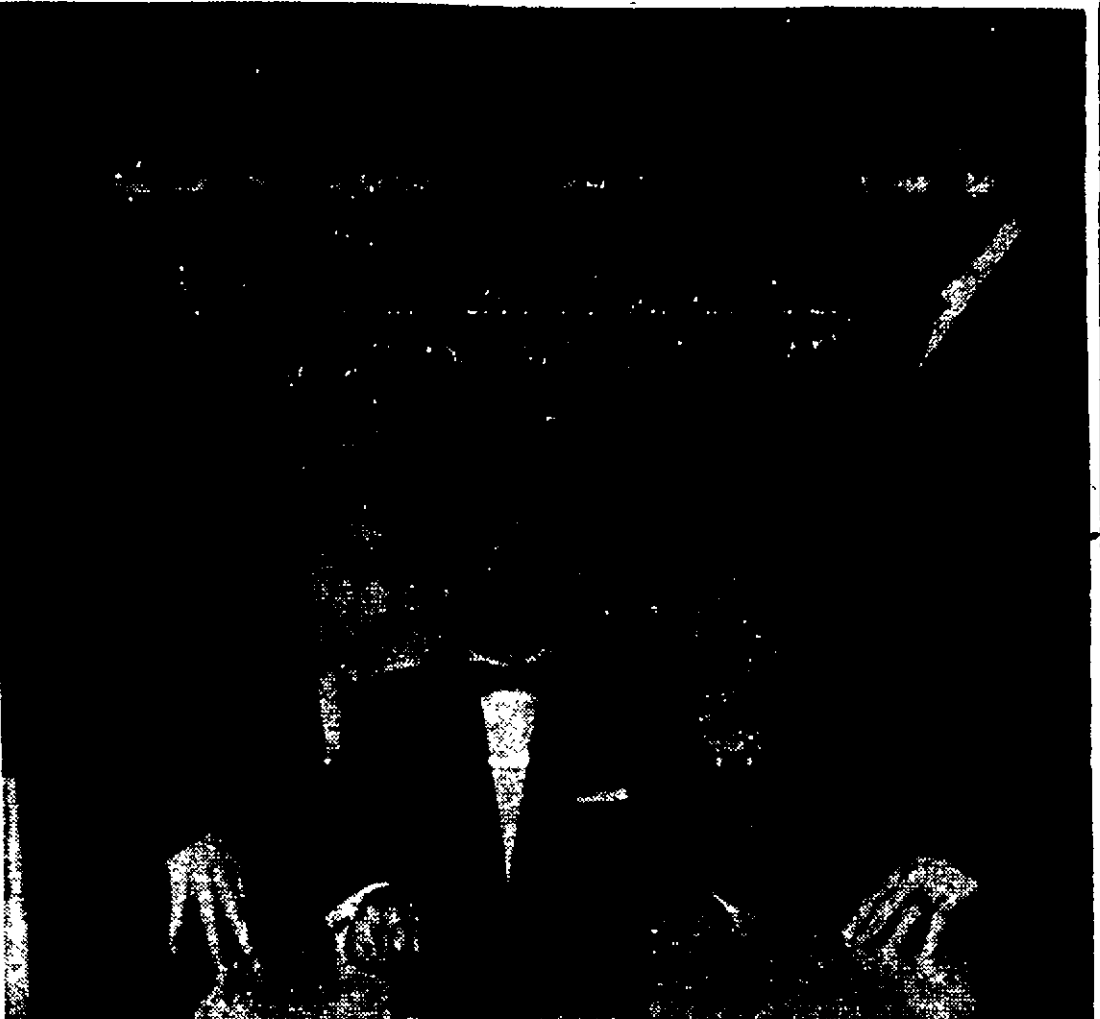

"What would they do?" he demanded of the Republican critics of the Kennedy Cuba position.

The audience gave its most audible cheer when Magnusen predicted senate ratification soon of the proposed nuclear test ban treaty.

Welders Will Meet at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday

The Fox Valley section of the American Welding Society will hold the first meeting of its 1963-1964 season at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Darby Club, according to Clarence M. Wieseckel chairman.

James F. Grist, rectifier engineer at Miller Electric Manufacturing Company, will talk on precision welding in the "space age."

More Than 600 Animals Ready For Northeast Livestock Show

Post-Crescent News Service

DE PERE—Hampshires, Herefords, Shropshires and Southdowns, Short horns, Berkshires, Durocs and Yorkshires, Angus, Poland Chinas, Chester Whites and Oxford.

You can see them all, more than 600 in total, during the 19th annual Northeast Wisconsin Junior Livestock exposition at the Brown County fairgrounds.

Sleek and sound, finished and fitted, the steers, barrows and lambs will parade before the judges Tuesday. Wednesday they will be sold at auction. The judging and the auction are open to the public.

15 Counties

Farm youths from 15 counties are participating in the show. The animals they brought were raised as 4-H Club and Future Farmer projects.

Advance entries were filed by $31 boys and girls. Although there always are some drop outs because a few animals do not attain competitive standards during the finishing period, it is expected that close to 300 youths would qualify before the bars went down at 5 p.m. today.

Judging will begin at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday. It probably will be mid-afternoon before the last of the ribbons, trophies and special prizes are awarded.

Tuesday's program also includes a livestock judging contest. High school vocational agriculture classes and 4-H clubs are eligible to compete.

Ribbons and trophies are nice, but the practical test will come on Wednesday when the animals are sold at auction. The young

Many Changes Initiated at St. Norbert

College Starts 3-Term School Year, Opens New Dorm

DE PERE — A whole new life began for more than 300 freshmen at St. Norbert College last week, but significant changes are also in order for the returning upperclassmen as the college embarks on the 1963-1964 academic year. Among the changes at St. Norbert this year are the following:

A new three-term school year, representing a departure from the traditional two-semester arrangement.

A new general education curriculum going into effect.

A new women's residence hall, the first for women at St. Norbert.

Extensive remodeling in several campus buildings.

Sixteen new faculty members, representing the largest influx of new faculty members for any single year in the college's history.

Greatest Impact

Of all the changes, the one with the greatest impact on the overall student body will be the break from the two-semester calendar arrangement.

Three 10-week terms will fill the September to late May school year. The purpose of the change is to enable students to do a higher quality of academic work by having them concentrate on fewer courses at one time. Under the three-term plan, students will be allowed a maximum of four courses, compared to the six or seven that had often crowded students' schedules with a two-semester plan.

The three terms will run from Sept. 16 to Nov. 27, Dec. 9 to Feb. 29, and March 9 to May 23. The class periods are increased from 50 to 70 minutes.

Eventually the college hopes to add a fourth 10-week term during the summer months. This would be optional for students, but it would enable a year-around student to complete his undergraduate work in three years.

Revised Curriculum

The second change concerns a revision of the general education curriculum, which encompasses approximately two-thirds of a student's total undergraduate work at St. Norbert. Eventually it is hoped that emphasis will shift away people will carry the livestock projects as business enterprises.

The public can take part in the auction sale, which starts at 9 a.m. Wednesday. Arrangements can be made at the sales desk for the slaughter, cutting, wrapping and sharp freezing of any animals purchased for the home freezer or locker.

Broadcast Sale

Persons interested in buying but do not wish to keep the animals may turn them over to any representative of several packing plants at the current market price.

The sale of the grand and reserve champions is scheduled for noon. The sale will be broadcast on Radio WJPG.

The junior livestock show here, like three others in the state, is sponsored by the Wisconsin Livestock Breeders Association. It has the cooperation of the University of Wisconsin and the Agriculture extension service, the State Department of Agriculture and the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

from specific course exams to exams that cover groups of courses, such as the humanities.

Although St. Norbert has been coeducational since 1952, this fall will mark the first time that women students will have their own residence hall. Up to now, a small number of non-resident coeds has been accommodated in college-owned houses near the campus. The new building will house 176.

Extensive remodeling has taken place during the summer months in Main Hall, the administration building; the Science Annex, and Berne Hall, a men's residence hall. An unfinished portion of the Memorial Union, opened two years ago, also is being completed. Another men's residence hall, the third at St. Norbert, is scheduled for completion later this year.

New Teachers

Sixteen full-time and five part-time new faculty members have been added for the year, compared to only five faculty departures.

Only two of this group are Norbertine priests: the Rev. Nicholas Nirschl and the Rev. Jerome G. Tremel, O. Praem. Both have just completed their Ph. D. degrees in mathematics.

Other new full-time teachers include Dr. Victor L. Alberg, history; James Cagle, art; Dr. Joseph M. Cohen, music; Dr. Thomas A. Davidson, English; Dr. Norbert J. Flangan, biology; Suzanne Gross, poet in residence; Capt. Oran T. Hrneur, military science; Robert F. Kramer, business administration; the Rev. M. J. Madaj and Raymond J. Stroik, history; Dr. Edward J. Williams, chemistry, and Dr. Jere P. Wilson, psychology.

Two non-teaching staff additions are Eugene Bunker, staff librarian, and John Schoultz, assistant director of admissions.

Joining the teaching staff on a part-time basis are George T. Arens and Kenneth Navine, both in sociology; Mrs. W. H. Garner and Raymond Sauvey, honors program, and Catherine L. Helms, modern languages.

Birmingham Tries To Head Off New Racial Outbreaks

Dynamite Blast in Church Kills 4 and Injures 23

BY BOYT HARWELL
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Officials took extraordinary steps today to head off any new racial violence in bomb-shaken Birmingham after a dynamite blast killed four Negro girls, caused hours of terror and brought outraged protests from national Negro leaders.

The U.S. Justice Department sent in three top officials and a Church occurred during a youth day program at the church where numerous desegregation meetings have been held.

It killed the four young girls and injured 23 others. Within a few hours, two Negro boys were shot to death in other parts of the city, and three other persons were wounded.

Kennedy Shocked By Bomb Killings

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy expressed "outrage and grief" today over the bomb killing of four Negro children in Birmingham, Ala. He said he hoped the incident would awaken the nation to "the folly of racial injustice and hatred and violence."

Kennedy said if there is this realization, "then it is not too late for all concerned to unite in steps toward peaceful progress before more lives are lost."

In a special statement, Kennedy said the United States stands for "domestic justice and tranquility."

He added:

"I call upon every citizen, white and Negro, north and south, to put passions and prejudices aside and join in this effort"—to promote justice and tranquility.

force of FBI agents with bomb experts. City officials joined with church leaders in a special telecast, urging citizens to be calm.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., a Negro leader, flew into town to urge Negroes to be nonviolent—just as he did in May when the bombing of a Negro motel touched off rioting by Negroes.

National Guardsmen were placed on alert. Gov. George C. Wallace sent 300 state troopers into town at the request of Mayor Albert Boutwell.

Leaders in State's Public Affairs Write Articles

A series of articles by prominent personalities in Wisconsin government and politics begins today on the editorial page.

Leaders in Wisconsin public affairs have been persuaded to prepare columns on subjects of their choice, as pinch-hitters for Madison Correspondent John Wyngaard, who is on vacation.

Leading off the series is a contribution by Talbot Peterson of Appleton, newly chosen chairman of the Wisconsin Republican party organization. Other representatives of both parties, and non-partisan public officials, will follow during the next fortnight.

Mobs Storm Embassy Compounds During Indonesian Riots

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Violent demonstrations in Indonesia and a cold shoulder from the Philippines darkened the birth of Malaysia today. In its first hours of life, the new nation found itself in deep trouble with its two biggest neighbors.

Neither the Philippines nor Indonesia recognizes the Federation of Malaysia. In Indonesia, mobs stormed the British and Malayan Embassy compounds to protest birth of the British-supported federation. In Manila, Philippine officials withheld recognition pending consultations with their diplomatic experts.

Both nations have placed claims to the North Borneo section of Malaysia.

Embassies Stormed
As Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman and King Yangdi-Pelnam Agong of Malaysia knelt here in prayerful thanksgiving, angry demonstrators stoned the Malayan and British embassies in Jakarta, Indonesia, in support of their government's opposition to the federation. A crowd of 5,000 tore down the British flag, smashed windows and set the British ambassador's car ablaze.

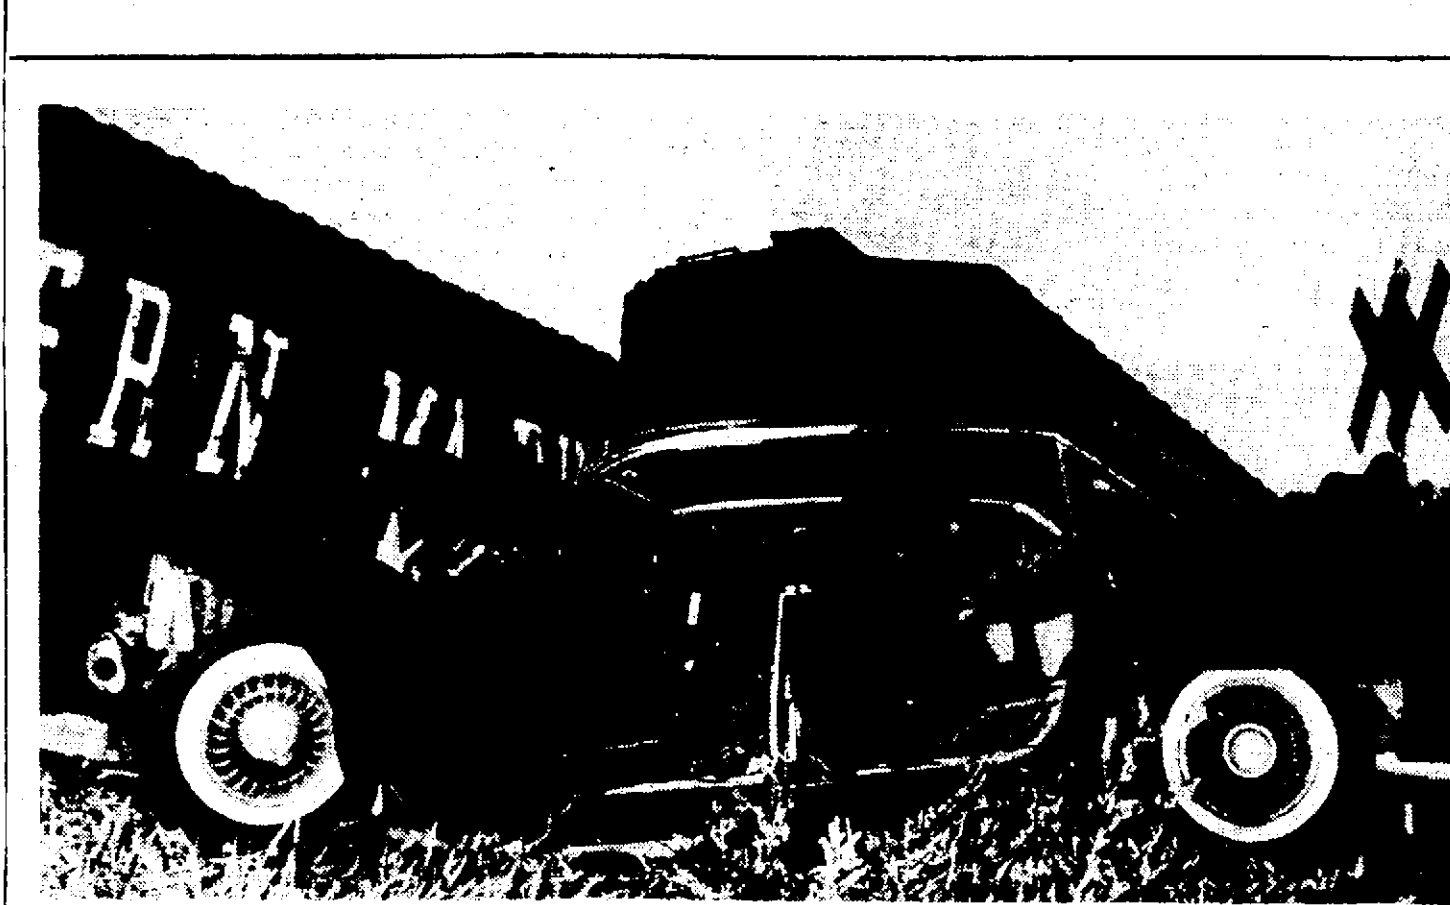

Malaya was the leader of the formation of Malaysia, bringing under one flag with Malaya the British colonies of Singapore, Sarawak and North Borneo.

At the British Embassy, demonstrators knocked down part of the embassy compound's iron-grill fence, rolled out an embassy car, turned it over, then set it on fire.

Auto-Train Crash North of Hilbert Results in 4 Deaths

DePere Youths in Stolen Car Slam Into Diesel Engine; Berlin Man Dies at Oshkosh

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

HILBERT—Four DePere youths riding in a stolen car were killed early today when their speeding auto slammed into a slow moving diesel locomotive at a fog shrouded Soo Line railroad crossing just north of here.

Dead are:

Milton E. Paul Doehler Jr., 19, 432 N. Broadway; Bernard L. Van Den Heuvel, 22, 121½ N. Michigan St.; Don V. Pargo, 17, 306½ N. Michigan, and Mark Adriansen, 16, 109½ N. Superior St.

John W. Taft, 25, 226 N. Wisconsin St., Berlin, was killed instantly when the car he was driving slammed into Clairville Road Bridge on County Trunk K three miles west of Oshkosh Sunday. Taft's death, the four from DePere and eight other accidents in the state brought the weekend toll to 601 compared with 644 a year ago at this time.

The violent crash occurred about 5:55 a.m. on State 57 at the Soo Line crossing. Sheriff C. J. Kosmosky said. The southbound stolen 1961 model Cadillac was driven by Doehler when it piled into the second unit of a two-diesel freight. The train, traveling east at about three miles an hour was bound for Manitowish. It had left Menasha about an hour earlier.

Out of Commission

One of the diesel units was knocked out of commission by the impact.

"Man, were they traveling," Engineer Harold W. Sonentag, Fond du Lac, said.

The auto was stolen from Ryan Funeral Home, DePere, about 5:30 a.m. Mrs. John McDonough, who saw the car being taken from the funeral home lot, alerted police.

DePere police theorized the four-some was headed for Milwaukee. Doehler has relatives including his mother and younger brother living there.

Found Summons

Traffic on 57 was held up for more than an hour. The wreckage was cleared at 7:07 a.m. and a mile long string of southbound trucks was allowed to continue travel.

None of the youths had drivers' licenses on their persons, Le Roy Hughes, Calumet County coroner, said. Hughes found a summons for Pargo to appear in a Green Bay court in October on a charge of driving without a license.

Doehler served a 13-month term at Wisconsin State Reformatory, DePere, as a juvenile offender and was released in September, 1962.

Russians to Buy Canadian Wheat

OTTAWA (AP)—The Soviet Union signed today the biggest wheat purchase pact in Canadian history, ordering nearly $500 million worth of wheat and wheat flour for delivery in the next 10½ months.

The order is for 138 million bushels of wheat and flour equal to another 29.5 million bushels.

Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp and S. A. Borisov, Russia's first deputy minister for foreign trade, signed the deal as part of a new three-year trade agreement between Canada and the Soviet Union.

Fischer Quintuplets Nearing End Of 72 Hours, Most Critical Period

Doctor Expects to Switch Them to Formula Diet Today

ABERDEEN, S. D., (AP)—The Fischer quintuplets, going strong on tiny feedings of sugar water, were doing fine today as they neared the end of the 72-hour period considered critical by doctors.

The four girls and a boy may be switched to a formula diet today, Dr. James Berbos, who delivered the babies, said.

The quints were born early Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer. The babies rounded out their first 48 hours of life early today.

Fischer, 38, busied himself getting his other five youngsters ready for school this morning and milked his two cows. He didn't plan to go back to his job as a billing clerk for a wholesale grocery firm just yet.

"He can take as long as he needs," said a sympathetic official of the Nash-Finch Co., Fischer's employer.

Mrs. Fischer, 30, continued to rest in her hospital room. Late Sunday, Dr. Berbos reported that the four girls and a boy were being fed about four cubic centimeters of sugar water every two hours.

No Sign of Trouble
Bebos, who has delivered 3,607 children in his 16 years as a physician, said both mother and children were doing extremely well. The first 72 hours were considered to be the most dangerous for the newborn quints, but there was no sign of trouble.

Gifts of money and merchandise continued to pour in for the family and Dr. Berbos added one of his own.

"I don't think I'll charge them anything," Berbos said. He indicated that St. Luke's hospital, where the infants were born, also would forget about a bill.

Dr. Berbos told a news conference that he hadn't delivered any

Son Says Slaying Of His Father 'Had to be Done'

EAGLE RIVER (AP)—A 14-year-old Land O'Lakes boy was detained for a juvenile court hearing today after he admitted, authorities said, that he shot and killed his father Saturday night because "it was something that had to be done."

Vilas County Sheriff James Skalecki identified the victim as 48-year-old Floyd James O'Brien, father of two children.

Dist. Atty. Frank Carter Jr. after conferring with the sheriff Sunday night, said the youth had admitted that he shot O'Brien in the chest with a rifle as the man rushed at him with an unloaded weapon.

The sheriff said the boy told him his father beat him and his mother and threatened to kill the entire family.

Skalecki quoted the son as saying his mother had hidden his father's ammunition because she was afraid of him. When the father began searching for the bullets following the beatings Saturday night, the boy got out his own gun and fired it when his father rushed at him.

O'Brien was unemployed.

Viet Nam Lifts Martial Law

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Martial law was lifted throughout South Viet Nam at noon today, 26 days after it was imposed in the wake of government raids on Buddhist pagodas Aug. 21.

Vietnamese authorities also announced that press censorship had been lifted.

The end to Viet Nam's state of siege, as President Ngo Dinh Diem put it, came after the Saigon government had put down Buddhist opposition and student unrest.

Saigon still bristled with soldiers. They guarded a dozen girls and boys' high schools, focal points of 10 days of antigovernment demonstrations by students.

Sen. Nelson Wants Kennedy to Observe Resource 'Blunders'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said today that when President Kennedy stops off on his conservation tour in Northern Wisconsin on Sept. 24 he will learn of "blunders in the past and great hope for the future."

"The destruction over 50 years ago of natural resources in Northern Wisconsin, just as in many other places, was a national scandal," Nelson said.

"First we squandered the timber. Then we ruined the soil and some of the waters. And then we exploited our final resource, the people. Every one of these foolish measures ended in failure."

Nelson, during his two terms as governor and since his election to the Senate last fall, has been a strong advocate of conservation of natural resources.

Intelligent long-range planning, Nelson said, could turn the North into a great recreational asset and a self-sufficient economic unit.

Korean Who Defected Decade Ago No Longer Fears Red Reprisals

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Ten years ago, a young North Korean pilot defected to the West in a Soviet-built MIG15 and collected a $100,000 reward.

Komsok Ko—now 31 and known as Kenneth Rowe—lives in San Diego and said he no longer fears Communist retaliation.

Damage Done
"Now I have concluded that once you get to America you are pretty safe," he said, "and I don't know what kind of value they would get out of killing me. The damage is done."

Rowe still puts on dark glasses when he spots a photographer, however. "For the first few years I moved around the country quite a bit, and I don't want to move again," he said.

He lived in Washington, Montana and Delaware before moving to California.

His self-imposed exile ended Friday when he was introduced in San Diego Superior Court as the sponsor for his mother in naturalization proceedings.

Rowe's mother, Virginia Rowe, 53, formerly Sang Kum Ko, was his only family when he defected. She came to the United States under an "alien hardship bill" visa in 1957 as did her son two years earlier.

"I became a citizen a year ago in Seattle," Rowe said.

Rowe has lived in San Diego for a year, has three children since his marriage in this country, and is employed at General Dynamics-Astronautics as a thermodynamics engineer. He declined to elaborate on his wife and children and was reluctant in discussing his reward.

Sparkman Asks Senate to Back Nuclear Treaty

Failure Could Bring War and Put End to Civilization, He Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. A. Willis Robertson, D-Va., said today that ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty could confront the United States with "terrifying blackmail" by Russia.

Robertson, in a prepared Senate speech, said that he would "violate the dictates of my conscience" to support the pact.

On the other side of the debate, Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., declared that "if this treaty doesn't work, then a future nuclear war will in all probability 'solve' our problems."

11 Votes in Doubt
As the historic debate moved into its second week, the votes of only 11 of the 100 senators remained on the doubtful or undecided list. Thirteen senators have announced their opposition to the treaty and 76 are committed to or are inclined to vote for ratification.

A two-thirds majority is required for approval. If all 100 senators should vote, that is unlikely since Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif. is ill. 67 favorable votes would be needed for ratification.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana ordered overtime sessions in an effort to accommodate more than 20 senators who still want to make floor speeches on the treaty. Eleven want to speak today, 10 more on Tuesday.

Minds Made Up
Mansfield indicated he did not think the oratory would change many votes. "At this stage in the proceedings it is my guess that practically every senator has made up his mind," he said.

With President Kennedy scheduled to speak before the U.N. General Assembly on Friday, there were strong reasons to push for a vote on ratification before then. Mansfield said he could not predict when a tally would come, although he planned early and late hours and a Saturday session

Air Board Agrees on Priority System But Doesn't Follow It

Authorizes $218,230 for Eight Projects Under Old Procedures

BY JAMES BARTLETT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

BAILEYS HARBOR—The State Aeronautics Commission agreed Friday it should have a priority system to decide which airports get state money, but four hours later it dished out $218,230 for eight projects under its old procedure.

At the start of its September session here, the commission voted 3-1 to authorize spending of $465,000 in state airport aid during the next two years without first agreeing on a priority system for pending projects. It voted to put the subject aside until next month but the idea later was abandoned when the commission agreed there was no immediate way to improve authorization procedure.

While the state appropriation for airport projects actually is only a token contribution, the commission is important in endorsement and scheduling of requests to the Federal Aviation Agency which pays half of improvement projects.

Grants Approved

The grants which finally gained commission approval Friday were: Mitchell Field, Milwaukee, $116,000 in state money toward $711,000 in paving and grading of a second instrument landing runway; La Crosse, $10,985 toward $59,100 in new runway lighting; Ladysmith, $13,525 toward $54,100 in runway paving and lighting.

Medford, $7,435 to start a $69,000 airport; Superior, $12,000 toward a $48,000 900-foot runway extension; Waukesha, $12,700 toward $51,000 in taxiways; Manitowoc, $20,500 toward $82,000 in runway resurfacing; and Rock County, $17,025 toward $68,000 in taxiway and lighting improvement.

The total projects represent about $1.2 million in 1964 airport improvements, work authorized this summer by the FAA with local governments paying nearly half in most cases.

The commission did not make a grant for Austin Straubel Field because Brown County is seeking to revise the FAA recommendation. The FAA authorized $136,800 in federal money for added taxiways, half the cost, but refused $181,250 as the half share of a 1,800-foot runway extension to equip an instrument landing runway for small jet transports.

Second Petition

The county is preparing a second petition in an attempt to get the runway extension authorized.

The schedule before the commission called for use of $307,000 in state money in 1964 for 18 projects and use of $157,000 in 1965, mostly to continue the same projects. As its first act, it was asked to approve a formula of providing $116,000 to Milwaukee and up to half for 30,000 for outside projects.

Donald Love, commission member from Green Bay, made the motion to block the formula at least for one month. He said the commission should take note of repeated criticism that it has no basis for spending its money.

No Direction

"This would get rid of this criticism once and for all by everyone."

UW Extension Lists 25 Fall Short Courses

A schedule of 25 institutes and short courses in Madison have been announced by engineering institutes of the University of Wisconsin Extension Division for September to January.

Information about any of the programs, which are designed to meet the educational needs expressed by industry, technical societies, and professional associations, can be received from Engineering Institutes, Extension Division, University of Wisconsin, Madison, 53706. All programs will be held in the Wisconsin Center building.

The institutes are:
Sept. — 19-20, precast concrete curtain wall construction.

Oct. — 3-4, steam plant operation; 7-10, introductory plastics short course; 8-9, effective drafting management seminar; 10-11, design and drafting automation; 15-16, industrial safety management; 19, fourth on-campus conference for welding instructors and supervisors; 22-23, filament and tape winding workshop; 24-25, thermoset plastics — molder controls and new techniques; 24-25, electric utility managers school.

Nov. — 7-8, construction contracts and specifications; 12-13, special architectural finishes; 14-15, heating and air conditioning; 21-22, acquisition and use of technical information.

Dec. — 4-6, surveyors institute; 5-6, glass and glazing problems; 9-13, critical path method course.

Jan. — 9-10, recent advances in electronics; 16-17, welding for profit; 21-24, work measurement fundamentals; 23-24, curtain wall construction; 27-31, advanced engineering mathematics fundamentals; 28-29, consulting engineers' management problems; 28-29, adhesives for wood and paper; 30-31, adhesives for plastics and metals.

who has ever come in contact with this commission that it doesn't know where it is going," Love said.

Walter Johnson, state planner said the commission could broaden its planning to tie-in airport projects with general state needs. That was why the department of resource development was going to sponsor a transportation survey but these results were a year or two away, he said.

Until then, we can only operate with the plans now in the machinery, said Don Olson, Manitowoc, commission chairman.

Olson said the "aviation public is not displeased" by the commission's practices. He said the commission is "on the back of a tiger," because airport development decisions really come from the federal level on such points as authorization of airline service.

"We may have wasted some funds and we will waste some more perhaps. The passage of time changes things, Olson said.

Pay Hike Approved

The commission reversed its field after T. K. Jordan, State Aeronautics Director, said commission grants and project approvals were now based on as much factual consideration as possible. In general, he said, there is priority to airline airports and encouragement with smaller grants to general aviation airports.

Norman Herro, a lawyer for North Central Airlines, a frequent commission critic, noted the grant to Superior as an example of detailed commission planning. A $250,000 project was being embarked upon to save a few private flyers "from having to drive 13 miles to Duluth," he said.

Commission members defended the Superior airport on grounds business aircraft needed it, flyers wished to avoid military jet traffic and ground delays at busier Duluth, and that it could provide a spur against Superior's depressed area status.

The commission also confirmed the pay raise for Jordan from $9,900 to $12,500 authorized by the Legislature in July.

A two-day aerial inspection of state airports was planned for a group of legislators next month. Madison was designated as the site of the 1964 state aeronautics conference next April.

The group voted to indicate its formal protest to proposed budget cut for the veterans' home at King and will direct the protest to district congressman William K. Van Pelt.

Mrs. Martin Schmidkofer was lauded for her work with the group's county fair booth and Mrs. Hertel thanked all of the volunteer workers.

Donations to the VFW periodical and to Mrs. Lillian Campbell, national auxiliary president were approved.

Continue Hearing On Charges of Carrying Weapon

Outagamie County Judge Gustave Keller Friday continued for two weeks a hearing on the disposition of charges of carrying a concealed weapon against Alex Williams, 49, New Madrid, Mo., a migratory workers gang boss.

Williams was taken into custody Sept. 9 and charged when members of his crew complained he had used a gun to intimidate them while they worked in the field.

Court officials released Williams so he could return the bus load of workers to their homes in southern Missouri. Charges against him would have been dropped if he was back in Missouri on Friday.

Nick Schaefer, Outagamie County district attorney, informed the court that the expected telegram from Missouri marking Williams' arrival there had not been received.

No Cases of Polio Reported In Appleton, Officials Say

Three Oshkosh Children Have Been Stricken; One Case Fatal

No cases of polio have been immunization is for the doctor to reported in the Appleton area and decide," Dr. Kagen said.

At the same time, he advocated a citywide polio immunization program in keeping with an Appleton Board of Health recommendation more than a year ago. The city program was not pushed in 1963 after the Medical Society suggested that a countywide clinic would be more advantageous.

Preliminary plans had been made in the fall of 1963 by the County Medical Society to launch the program but then the U.S. Health Service order was issued which temporarily halted the administering of type III oral vaccine to persons in certain age brackets.

Since then, several communities have proceeded with mass immunization programs.

Dr. George Behnke, Kaukauna, chairman of the Outagamie County Medical Society committee in charge of planning the countywide clinic, said today that "nothing has been done because of the question raised sometime ago about type III oral vaccine."

Dr. Behnke explained it was not advisable to administer vaccine during summer months. He doubted that the proposed countywide clinic could start operating this fall but indicated next spring appeared to be more realistic.

The polio victim at Oshkosh was Carol Robinson, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robinson.

Two cases of polio were confirmed in the Gaylord Johnson family at Oshkosh Wednesday. Joseph, 4, is confined in the isolation ward at Mercy Hospital with his brother, Roy, 11. Health authorities said the brothers had not been immunized.

A hospital report today said the boys were "holding their own." Since the two youngsters were stricken, four other members of the family were given gamma globulin shots.

Dr. Kagen urged, however, that adults and children who have not had immunizations — injected or oral — should contact their family physician. "The type of Lehner.

Waupaca to Meet PSC in Request for Hike in Water Rate

Plea to Increase Earnings of Utility to be Aired Thursday

WAUPACA — City officials are scheduled to appear Thursday before the Wisconsin Public Service Commission to request higher water rates to increase net earnings of the city-owned water utility.

City Clerk - Treasurer Mrs. Dell Ward said the water utility earned less than one per cent on its investment during 1962. The commission normally allows a net earning of up to 5.5 per cent, she said.

Net earnings of the utility was $2,703. This was on assets of $386,931. If the utility were earning one per cent, it would have earned $3,869.

Expenses

The operating revenues during 1962 totaled $37,248. Operating expenses were $19,087, depreciation expenses were $4,767 and taxes totaled $8,395, leaving a net operating income of $4,968.

$8,000 Cash Taken From Savings, Loan

$30,000 in Checks Gone At Kimberly

KIMBERLY — An estimated $8,000 in cash and nearly $30,000 in checks were stolen from Kimberly Savings and Loan Association sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Paul Wydeven Insurance Agency, adjacent to the savings firm also reported money stolen but no amount has been determined yet.

The break in was discovered by village patrolman Chris DeLeeuw about 9:25 p.m. Sunday when he noticed the rear door of the savings firm open. He checked the interior of the building and found debris scattered about the inner office and an 18-inch hole chipped into the side of the safe.

FBI agents have been sent to assist with the investigation, because the savings firm is insured by Federal Deposit Insurance Co.

Removed Screen

Police said the thieves apparently removed a screen from a rear basement window, used a bar to open it and then dropped into a basement washroom, climbed the stairs and entered the office section.

Burglars then forced open a locked door and tore through pressed paper siding an eight-inch concrete block wall and plywood paneling to get into the safe.

Once inside, police said, they had to force open locks on metal cabinets where the money was kept. Papers, checks and small coins were strewn about the office and inside the safe.

Police said the back door which was found open had been unlocked by the thieves when they left the building. The burglars apparently were interested only in the safe because nothing else in the building had been disturbed.

Patrolman DeLeeuw said he checked the door of the building at about 10 p.m. Saturday and found nothing wrong.

3 Records Set In 1963 OSC Enrollments

3,803 Register For 14 Per Cent Over-all Increase

OSHKOSH — Three new enrollment records are in the books at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh as registration draws to a close this week, according to Dr. Gordon Drake, associate dean of instruction.

A total of 3,803 students have signed up to set a new record in total registration and continue the enrollment boom at the college. The 3,803 figure is a 14 per cent increase over the 3,326 registered last year, the previous all time record.

New all time records were also established in the size of the freshman class, in the number of new students, and in the percentage of upper class retention. This fall's enrollment of freshmen is 1,190. Total new students — including freshmen and transfers — number 1,488. Retention of upper classmen jumped 5 per cent over the past two years.

Of note, according to Dr. Drake, is the increasing number of students coming to Oshkosh State to complete their programs. Some 265 students in this category transferred from other schools to Oshkosh for the 1963-64 term.

The 3,803 enrollment at the college this fall represents a 53 per cent increase in student body over the past nine years and a tripling in size over the past five years to keep OSC at the top of the list as Wisconsin's fastest growing college.

To meet the increasing enrollment, additional facilities, faculty and courses are being added. Three structures — a science building, dormitory and union expansion are now being constructed. Some 40 faculty members were added this year with a like number planned for 1964.

Prompted by the purposes of the college as a liberal arts, professional and teacher education institution, the college was reorganized this fall into the School of Letters and Sciences and School of Education.

NAACP Attorney Led Struggle to Integration in South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — A framed photograph showing two smiling Negroes in a congratulatory pose hangs in a lawyer's tastefully decorated, air-conditioned office just off Columbia's Main Street.

The picture symbolizes the climax of an historic court struggle against segregation in South Carolina's public schools.

One Negro in the picture is Harvey Gantt of Charleston, the first member of his race to attend a white public school in South Carolina since reconstruction. Gantt enrolled at state-supported Clemson College under a court order last January.

Fought Cases
With Gantt in the photograph is Matthew J. Perry, 42, an attorney who has represented the Negro cause in scores of civil rights cases handled in South Carolina courts in the past four years.

In an interview, Perry spoke hopefully of being able to hang alongside the Gantt photograph one of himself with Henri Monteith, a Negro from Columbia who is to be admitted to the University of South Carolina in September, also under court order.

Leading Role
Perry has taken a leading role in three suits which seek integration of public secondary schools in Clarendon, Charleston and Darlington Counties.

The NAACP's legal business takes up 75 per cent of his time. U.S. Dist. Judge C. C. Wyche of Spartanburg who presided at the trial of the Gantt suit complimented Perry from the bench on his legal know-how. A white lawyer who has opposed Perry on many occasions in civil rights cases says of him, "he is a courteous, competent and able attorney."

Satisfaction
Noting that Gantt was admitted to the Universities of Alabama and Mississippi, Perry recently remarked, "A deep sense of satisfaction comes from the realization that South Carolina was able to secure a positive approach on the part of its leaders."

"If public officials insist on law and order as they did in the Gantt case," he declared, "the transition will be accomplished with ease and without violence or, at worst, very little trouble."

Although he never has participated in racial demonstrations, Perry is sympathetic with sit-ins and similar protest movements.

Direct Approach
"This so-called direct approach has its rewards as long as it remains nonviolent," he says.

Perry acknowledges there have been moments of unpleasantness since he came into the public eye as legal representative for the NAACP.

There have been telephone calls from crackpots and once a bomb threat some time ago that never amounted to anything," he remembers. "Sometimes the phone will ring and I'll hear just breathing at the other end."

Family Life
Perry's law practice prevents him from spending as much time as he would like with his wife and 2½-year-old son.

Perry returned to his native Columbia in 1961 two years after joining the legal staff of the NAACP.

Perry's father, a tailor died when Matthew was 12. To supplement the family income he worked as a house painter after school.

An Army veteran who saw service in Europe during World War II, Perry got a bachelor's degree from South Carolina State College for Negroes and was a 1951 graduate of the state college law school two years after it was established.

The law school was established after a Charleston Negro applied for admission to the law school at the all white University of South Carolina.

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

New York, N. Y. (Special) — One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the victim during the day and especially aggravating at night.

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery.

Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of months. Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H®. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters.

The Chinese Land Appetite

India tended to ignore a map published in a Red Chinese history book until the attacks last winter upon border areas which the Chinese claimed were ancient parts of China rather than of India. Now the Russians are involved in a dispute over the Sinkiang frontier. A glance at the Chinese map should warn several other countries that their borders may be in danger of violation.

The map was published in Peking in 1954 and has a large area surrounded by a dotted line supposed to be the borders of the Chinese Empire in 1840. The areas outside today's Chinese borders are captioned "imperialist encroachments of Chinese territory — 1840-1919." Specifically there are listed nineteen losses to European countries and Japan in various wars including nine "unequal" treaties which ceded territory to other nations.

The extent of nationalization of China in the middle of the Nineteenth Century could be debated. Much of the area was really controlled by war lords, emirs and khans who had little allegiance to a central government. The Russians established control in much of Central Asia with little trouble about 100 years ago. A treaty in 1881, which the Chinese Empire never recognized, gave it more control in what is now Kazakhstan.

Russian influence in the Sinkiang province goes back quite a while too. Until World War I there were hardly any recognizable borders and nomads wandered at will in the area. No one knew or cared whether they were Russian or Chinese.

The Soviet Union continued to develop the area until a Soviet-oriented regime was in control when World War II exploded. For one year it switched allegiance to Chiang Kai-shek but then turned again to Moscow. And the Red Chinese established themselves as threats to the National government through their development in Sinkiang.

After the Chinese Reds gained control of the Chinese mainland, joint oil and mineral exploitation companies were set up between Russia and China in Sinkiang with Russia really holding control. But the Chinese map of 1954 showed not only all of Sinkiang as part of China but areas as far west as Lake Balkhash and up north into Siberia.

It is to the south, however, that the Chinese are really claiming vast areas of land and sea. Included are a slice of Kashmir and Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan and all of Burma, the Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal, Malaya, Thailand, Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos, the Ryukyus and Korea and the Sulu Archipelago north of Indonesia.

Peking has announced that when "conditions are ripe" the treaties will be reviewed, abrogated or revised. Quite obviously the pressure in Southeast Asia in particular will continue until the conditions are such that Red China will feel it has strength enough in the areas to start dickering for legal control. It is somewhat alarming that China at present apparently feels the Russians will not go to war to prevent a rearrangement of border lines in Mongolia.

First Victory for Mr. Kennedy

Eight months after the session convened, Congress has passed the first major piece of legislation in the package requested by President Kennedy early this year. Last April the House approved a $236 million medical education bill. Last week the Senate finally took affirmative action.

The measure authorizes $175 million in grants to help build new medical schools and rehabilitate old ones. It also provides $61 million in student loans for medical education.

This is the first break in the frustrating log jam on education legislation, and the administration hopes it signals favorable action on other pieces of the package.

But the bill in final form was cut considerably by the House from what Mr. Kennedy requested. He asked for a 10-year program. The House cut it to three years, and the Senate concurred. Undoubtedly, however, there will be a request to renew it before it expires and now that the precedent has been set it will probably become a permanent program.

There has been considerable expert opinion on why this Congress has been dragging its feet so significantly on administration-sponsored legislation, and many reasons have been advanced. But recently Washington observers have opined that jealousies and differences between the two chambers of Congress have been a major factor. And the six months which elapsed on this bill between House and Senate action looks like a case in point.

In fact the administration has adopted a new strategy designed to counteract this situation. They are letting the House take first action on administration bills, feeling that the Senate, which is generally more favorable to the administration, will then follow suit. In the past it was felt that the size of the appropriations authorized by the Senate scared House leaders.

This Congress is being attacked in some circles as the "do-nothing Congress ever," and there may be some first thoughts among the general public as to what they are in Washington for.

We do not share this opinion, however. We would not be much alarmed if none of the New Frontier's spending proposals were acted upon. Would it be such a great tragedy if we had a partial moratorium on new legislation, especially in the spending field?

The medical education bill has more justification than many other administration proposals. Congress undoubtedly owes Mr. Kennedy at least one legislative victory this session. But there is no great point in overdoing a good thing.

Gronouski's Successor

No one who has held the position during our memory which reaches back some decades has been so unmistakably identified as a partisan politician in the office of state tax commissioner as was John Gronouski during the last four years.

Now that Mr. Gronouski has been chosen by the President as U. S. postmaster general, and the law directs Gov. Reynolds to name a replacement in the state tax office, it is time for persons interested in objective tax administration to speak plainly.

The state would welcome, we are confident, a man of neutral or at least private political convictions in this deeply sensitive administrative seat. We are not suggesting that Mr. Gronouski shaded decisions in assessments, or audits, or in allowing write-offs or deductions or the many other matters that are involved in income and other tax administration. But the appearance of neutral direction here is as important as the reality. A man who is so deeply involved in elections and campaigns and campaign financing as was the retiring tax commissioner can very well get notions, or be subjected to temptations to favor his political associates, that will be hard to resist. What is even more troublesome, such decisions might be hard to detect.

Mr. Gronouski deprecated his activities as a partisan politician and campaigner. Politics was his "hobby," as he put it. In actuality it was a second occupation. In one job or the other he was "moonlighting," as the current vernacular would put it. He has also said, with some asperity, that he did not surrender his civil right to engage in party activity when he took his appointment.

Of course he didn't. But there is nothing in the code of law, or nothing in the precedents of political practice in this state which has always been proud of its careful administrative services, requiring or even implying that a man of such intense partisan feelings as he has shown should have this particular job. There are ample opportunities in the cavernous reaches of the statehouse bureaucracy to employ such men and women, while preserving the appearance as well as the reality of letter-perfect neutrality in tax management that now involves all of us, Republicans, Democrats and in between, so expensively.

Looking Backward

'The Rebels Know Their Friends!'

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Sept. 17, 1863.

The Rebels evidently know their friends! Let those who think otherwise read the following from the Richmond Enquirer:

"The success of the Northern Democratic party would be no longer doubtful should Gen. Lee once more advance on Meade. Parties in the United States are so nearly balanced that the least advantage thrown in favor of one will ensure its success."

"Should the Confederate army remain quiescent on the banks of the Rappahannock, the boastful bragadoes of the Yankee official reports will be confirmed. Lincoln and Halleck will point in triumph to the crippled condition of the Confederate army as a confirmation of the great victory won in Pennsylvania."

"The Democrats, unable to gainsay such evidence, will be constrained to enter the contest for the Speakership shorn of the principal part of their strength — the disgraceful mismanagement and conduct of the war."

"Gen. Lee must turn politician as well as warrior. He may so move and direct his army as to produce political results which in their bearing upon this war will prove more effectual than the bloodiest victories. Let him drive Meade into Washington and he will again raise the spirits of the Democrats, confirm their timid and give confidence to their wavering."

"He will embolden the Peace party should he again cross the Potomac, for he will show the people of Pennsylvania how little security they have from Lincoln for the protection of their homes."

"It matters not whether the advance be made for purposes of permanent occupation, or simply a grand raid, it will demonstrate that in the third year of the war they are so far from subjugation of the Confederate States that the defense of Maryland and Pennsylvania has not yet secured."

"The road to peace lies through Pennsylvania, via Washington."

New Outagamie Airport Could Well Qualify as Regional Port

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I am writing to commend you on the fine journalism shown in the September 8th (Sunday) edition of the airport situation. I feel confident that the clarity of these articles brought into clear focus the decision forced upon Outagamie County by the obvious provincialism exhibited by Oshkosh over the past days, months and years. This clarification of the issues did much, undoubtedly, to persuade the Outagamie County Board to proceed as it did to authorize advertising for bids on the first phase of our Greenville Township airport.

Unquestionably the concept of a joint airport to be located between Oshkosh and Appleton had much in its favor. It was first recommended by the Fischer report upon the strength of which the Outagamie County Board proposed to the Winnebago County Board that they join in the construction of such a facility even agreeing to bear the greater portion of the cost of construction. The reception given this offer of cooperation is a matter of cold record, a record of gag rule, a record of abuse of parliamentary procedures, a record reflecting only shame on those responsible. More recently at the suggestion of Mr. Edward T. Stodola, CAB examiner in charge of the regional airport hearings, although it had over $500,000 invested in land acquisitions and many more thousands in research and engineering, Outagamie County officials, still smarting from the earlier rebuff, swallowed their pride and again offered to discuss this joint facility. In a characteristic manner and one which should make Khrushchev envious, Winnebago County officials generously offered to discuss the matter, not on Mr. Stodola's suggestion of a port between Oshkosh and Appleton, but only upon a predetermined conclusion that Oshkosh be designated as the regional airport.

Still more recently, the Bureau of Economic Advisors to the CAB, changing their original position, recommended such a joint facility but again Winnebago County officials have indicated that this too will be given "short shrift" and be rejected. Three highly qualified experts have recommended this cooperation and three times Winnebago County has remained intractable. It is almost inconceivable that they now could humbly admit their error and come to us with any sincere offer. Consequently, although the joint facility might still be economically feasible (Winnebago County's contribution, State and Federal aids, and moneys received from resale of the Greenville lands could still make the joint port less expensive) and is still desirable in that it would be definitely assured of designation as the regional airport, Winnebago County has definitely blocked all possibility of attaining this ideal.

The die is now cast and by force of circumstances, construction of the new Outagamie County Airport is imminent, the grading for the new runways being scheduled to commence this fall. It is my belief that we can rely on Mr. Stodola and the CAB to recognize that it was not Outagamie County that rejected their recommendations for the joint facility. I also feel that we can rely upon their good judgment to appreciate the manifold advantages the new airport will have over the Oshkosh port. Perhaps these advantages will not be as great as those the recommended joint facility would have had, but still they seem more than sufficient to warrant its designation as the Regional Airport.

After all, the Greenville site is only a few short miles north of the recommended site, west of Neenah, and only 18 miles north of Oshkosh city limits over excellent roads. It is far closer to the destination and point of departure of the greatest number of users of airline service and is more convenient to the greatest users of the airport facility for private and industrial aircraft. Its approaches will be clear, not over densely populated areas as in Oshkosh. Its runways may be extended to any reasonable length without requiring the state to reroute any highways. Its runways are designed to bear the heavier loads of jet aircraft and will be of far greater load bearing capacity than the runways at Oshkosh, several of which, having been built under W.P.A., are reportedly below today's standards.

These and many other advantages recommend its designation as the regional airport, not the least of which is Outagamie County's record of attempted cooperation.

Organization of State Political Party Today Complicated, Costly

BY TALBOT PETERSON

MADISON — The changes made from the end of World War II in transportation and communication are being reflected in the organization of the Republican Party of Wisconsin.

Fifteen, or even ten years ago, there wasn't a requirement for a full time headquarters, or a full time staff. Coordinated campaign plans at the state level were practically non-existent. The campaigns in Wisconsin's counties consisted mainly of a county tour by local candidates, a few ads in the local paper, and the usual hand shaking. The complex fast moving life of the 60's, however, has added scores of other proven techniques that rank as a must if a party is to be successful at the county, district, or state level.

To do anything in political life, there must be an organization. This organization can't be a name on a piece of paper, but it must consist of dedicated active leaders on the county level.

The next important ingredient is an effective system of communication between the county chairman and the district chairman. Several districts have perfected this to a high degree that ten years ago was unheard of.

MANPOWER

While the age of automation is here, it doesn't help the political organization to reduce manpower. The requirement for telephone workers to get out the vote, squads of door-to-door workers to locate the party faithful, and manned headquarters in most key counties of the state call for thousands of volunteers. In one medium size county in the 1962 campaign, for example, over 200 women volunteers worked on the telephone campaign alone.

Stepping into the modern political picture are such items as helicopters, IBM systems, WATS (Wide Area Telephone Systems), public opinion polls, research groups, "think groups," advertising manpower and advisors in every conceivable subject imaginable. Political activity today at the state level is big business and victory or defeat hinges on organization at all levels making use of these latest techniques.

Television for the most part has replaced other means of campaigning. In 1960, and in 1962, we have seen examples of how it can be used to advantage, by one party or another. The cost of this necessary media has raised the cost of a campaign many fold over the last decade. Many old timers, who long for the county tour and hand shaking days, would be surprised to know just how much a campaign costs today.

HUGE COSTS

In a recent book written by Maurice McCaffrey, he pointed out the campaign costs of a typical congressional candidate in an urban area could run as high as $51,000, with $12,000 of that going to television alone. Based on his experience in Minnesota, he gives $147,500 as the cost of a statewide campaign by a challenger, with $35,000 of that going to television. If you apply these figures to the Congressional Districts of Wisconsin, and you add the statewide races, you will have some idea of the high cost of conducting political warfare in the 60's.

Another long departed luxury is the ability of the Republican Party to depend on a relatively few contributors to finance the party and the campaign. The base has been broadened tremendously the past two years, and it will be further broadened before the election of 1964. In this regard, the Republicans have a large untapped reserve in Wisconsin.

As we head into the critical year of 1964, the Republican Party has the issues, and it will have the candidates. What must be filled in is a complete organization in all 72 counties, a broadened base of contributors, and a continuation of the enthusiasm of some county groups and the Young Republicans and Women's Federation. If this is done, the Republican Party of Wisconsin will be victorious in November of 1964.

Strictly Personal

I'll Bet That You Don't Remember Me

BY SIDNEY J. HARRIS

Oscar Wilde once defined a gentleman as "one who is never unintentionally rude." I wonder how many men and women, realize they are being unintentionally rude when they ask: "You don't remember me, do you?"

They mean it in a kindly way, perhaps. Yet they are always a little bit hurt when you have to confess you don't remember them. They are hurt, and you are embarrassed.

Being one of that vast and unhappy number who not only have no memory for names, but forget faces just as easily, I have been tormented for years by this question, or variations thereof. And further, being wholly incapable of pretending, I cannot carry off this social awkwardness with any kind of ease.

Those of us who meet people several times and still have no recollection of their identity (and no memory of the meeting) are pitiful creatures who deserve sympathy; instead, we are considered to be haughty and aloof and self-important.

The most gracious persons I have met are those who anticipate such lapses of memory, and accent you with the lovely phrase, "I'm Mrs. Blank-Blank; we met at the Ciphers' dinner." This charming gambit permits you to counter gracefully with, "Of course, I remember it very well." This immediately creates an atmosphere of relaxed civility.

Whether this shocking blankness of recollection comes from a deep fear of people, or from self-absorption, or mere lack of attentiveness, its consequences can be humiliating to anyone who is at all in the public eye — sensitive people inevitably feel that he considers himself too superior to acknowledge their existence.

This is, of course, nonsense. Many persons who give the impression of being self-assured are, in reality, painfully shy; and so freeze up when they meet new people that the whole episode is blocked off from consciousness.

At any rate, it is the finest point of politeness never to assume that a casual acquaintance remembers who you are, and to remove him from embarrassment by giving him a handle to swing on. Thank you, friend.

Kennedy Grinning At 2 GOP Rivals

Rockefeller, Goldwater May Split GOP Without President's Help

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater tried to lay down ground rules for himself and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in their longling for the Republican presidential nomination: No tooth marks.

"The Democratic strategy," Goldwater said, after Rockefeller seemed to pick on him, "is to have Republicans eat Republicans and I'll be damned if I'll follow it."

Whether it's Democratic strategy or not, President Kennedy seems inclined at this point to grin at the two rivals as if hoping they'll do exactly what Goldwater says he hopes they won't.

Their maneuvers, as they get closer to the Republican convention next summer, may be enough to split the Republican party without any help from Kennedy. In fact, if he went after either man it might help the GOP chances rather than hurt them.

Besides, as a president sure of the Democratic nomination in 1964, Kennedy is still champ while Rockefeller and Goldwater are not even challengers now since at this moment neither can be sure of his party's nomination.

Snag At Kennedy

But Goldwater and Rockefeller, while skipping around each other rather gingerly, have been snapping at Kennedy who so far has been content to treat them with a kind of fast brush.

His forbearance may not last indefinitely. Indeed, he indicated last week that he will go after one or both of them but choose his own time for the assault.

At his news conference last Thursday he was reminded about a Goldwater remark on Kennedy's handling of Cuba. Asked if he'd comment further "on this type of attack by Sen. Goldwater," Kennedy said: "No, no, not yet, not yet."

Dead Pan Joke

The president, asked about Rockefeller's criticism of Kennedy's handling of the economy, made a dead-pan joke of it.

The relationship between Rockefeller and Goldwater, now in only the very earliest stage of rivalry, should get increasingly unpleasant, if they follow the political pattern. Even now it can hardly be called jolly.

Last July Rockefeller expressed concern about "the radical right." It was after this that Goldwater expressed his distaste for cannibalism among Republicans.

"I don't spend my time worrying about conservative and too conservative," he said. "I worry about the radical left in government. We Republicans ought not to be harassing each other. We have a common political enemy, the Democrats."

This may have given Rockefeller some second thoughts. He said later this statement had not been aimed at Goldwater. Sunday, after a momentary hesitation on a television show, he said he'd rather see Goldwater than Kennedy in the White House.

Indirect Answer

Goldwater was asked last August if he'd support Rockefeller if the governor got the nomination. At first Goldwater did not answer this question directly.

He said this: "I have a habit of supporting Republican presidential nominees unless they are personally obnoxious to me."

Asked then if he found Rockefeller personally obnoxious, Gold-

Every Little Bit'

More Than 1,100 Give To Aid Evers' Family

BY RICHARD F. WHALEN

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am a girl 11 years old," the letter began, "and I was sorry to hear that the Evers children lost their daddy because some bad men shot him dead."

"I am sending a dollar bill, which is my allowance for the week. It is not enough, I know, but it is all I have right now. I hope it will help a little bit."

The contribution was one of more than 1,100 that have poured into the National Association For the Advancement of Colored People for the education of Medgar Evers' three children.

Shot in Back

Evers, the NAACP's field secretary for Mississippi, was shot in the back outside his home in Jackson, Miss., June 12.

The fund totals $44,163.57.

The first contributions arrived even before the NAACP considered establishing a fund.

Miss Mildred Bond, NAACP administrative assistant in charge of the fund collections, says: "When we came to work the day Evers was shot, we found three water said no. But he said he thought the New Yorker would do the country a favor if he explained what he means by extremists or the radical right.

Finally, Goldwater said he would support Rockefeller if the governor got the nomination. He said "this country can't stand another four years of Kennedy."

Goldwater and Rockefeller seem to have achieved complete harmony only in wanting Kennedy out, which is not an unusual trait among Republicans but is hardly sufficient foundation for a quiet and impersonal contest for the Republican nomination.

or four people waiting in the office. One lady said she cried when she heard the news and just had to make a contribution to help the family."

"Little of Me Died"

Mrs. Evers received a letter from a New York man, who wrote it the day Evers was shot. It said, in part: "I'm white, the grandfather of two boys and a girl and I'm 55 years of age. Today a little of me died when I read the news of the brutal, cold-blooded murder of your husband."

"My two grandchildren are old enough to understand and they shall be told of your husband's great work. My granddaughter will be told when she is old enough."

"I work for a living and make a fair salary. You would honor me if you would permit me to set up a modest annuity in behalf of your children."

$30,000 Goal

Enclosed was a check for $25. More donations arrived and the NAACP set up a fund with a goal of $30,000. From time to time it announced the amount collected to date.

From New York: "I am regretfully sorry of what happened to Medgar Evers. Therefore I am giving this contribution (a dollar bill) for the children of Medgar Evers. I wish I could give more but I'm nine years old and this is all I can give."

From Des Plaines, Ill.: "My tears were not enough. No one's tears could be enough on June 13, 1963. A dollar isn't enough—no amount could ever be enough."

A schoolgirl in Stamford, Conn., sent 63 cents and wrote: "I will be sending money each week." Since then, she has sent 75 cents and $1.10.

In his magazine interview, he said there are many areas of agreement between him and Goldwater. But he added: "There are many other areas in which it's hard for me to know just exactly where he does stand. His position on many issues has been importantly modified in recent weeks or months."

In reply to a question stating that Goldwater favored withdrawal of recognition of the Soviet Union, Rockefeller called such a stand unrealistic.

On other points, he said: "He doesn't think there's a split in the Republican party."

—He thinks President Kennedy can be beaten in 1964 and that Republican chances have improved in the last 6 to 12 months.

—He wouldn't write off either the Negro or the labor vote for the Republicans in 1964.

—He thinks the Republicans have a pretty good chance of winning Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and California.

—Anyone who sees no difference between him and Kennedy is "just plain misinformed."

Meanwhile, GOP Chairman William E. Miller said that a directive he issued to Republican national committee officials against taking sides in the presidential nomination contest applied to all committee personnel.

It was learned elsewhere that he was alarmed primarily at the heads of two subsidiary organizations—Dorothy Elston, president of the National Federation of Republican Women, and Donald E. Lukens, head of the National Young Republicans.

In an interview, Miller avoided confirming or denying reports that New York National Committeeman George L. Hinman had complained that Mrs. Elston was campaigning for Goldwater in her position as federation president.

Rockefeller backers are known to be interested in Miller's seeing to it that Lukens, who was elected as a Goldwater supporter, doesn't convert the Young Republican organization into a roving section for the Arizona senator.

The bodies were taken to Kapitzke Funeral Home, Hilbert.

Bounced 54 Feet

Taft was alone in his car, which bounced 54 feet after striking the bridge. The car went off the road on the left side, hit a cement abutment and broke it in half.

Taft was pinned inside the car and died of a basal skull fracture, crushed chest and fractured left arm and left leg, according to coroner Arthur Miller.

A small foreign-made car left a county road southeast of Chippewa Falls and struck a tree early Sunday, killing Michael Evans, 17, of Route 1, Chippewa Falls.

Duane E. Powers, 27, a Racine insurance agent and credit office manager, was killed Sunday when his car went out of control on I-94 in Kenosha County, hit a guard rail and landed upside down on the side of a hill.

Girl Killed

In Accidents Saturday, Judy Schwartz, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Schwartz of rural Wausau, was killed when she was hit by a car as she ran across Highway 52 four miles east of Wausau, and Irvin B. Maki, 13, was killed when his truck hit a fence on Highway 13 near Brule.

Mrs. Raymond Prellwitz, 49, of Milwaukee, was injured fatally Sunday when she was struck by an automobile as she walked across the street in suburban West Milwaukee.

Mrs. Alvin Elmer, 76, of Monroe was injured fatally Sunday afternoon when the car in which she was riding collided with another vehicle near Juda, in Green County. She died early today at St. Clare Hospital in Monroe.

John W. Taft, 25, of Berlin, was killed Sunday night when the car in which he was riding alone struck a bridge along Winnebago County Trunk K west of Oshkosh.

Dense Fog

Two Lena persons were killed when the car in which they were riding collided with another in heavy fog at the intersection of State 141 and a town road 14 miles south of Lena at 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

Ferdinand La Rue, 76, and Miss Mary Guehl, 63, died at a Green Bay hospital. The car, with eight passengers was going to a Lena church.

The driver, Art Guehl, 58, Lena, is in critical condition at St. Vincent Hospital.

The Guehl car collided with a southbound car driven by Le Roy Sommers, 26, Milwaukee.

Mrs. Art Guehl was taken to St. Vincent Hospital. Treated and released at hospitals in Oconto Falls and Green Bay were three Guehl children, Robert, 14, Gary, 9, Mark, 8, Jacob Guehl, 63, Sommers, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sommers, both of Milwaukee.

Arthur Caupolia of Ironwood, Mich., was killed today when his car crashed after leaving Highway 51 in Hurley.

An elderly couple and a blind woman were struck at a Stevens Point intersection Sunday morning by an automobile which sped away from the scene.

The 60-year-old owner of the car was taken into custody later in the day after police and Army Reserve units searched a brush-covered area on the outskirts of town. The auto had been abandoned in the brush and the owner was located walking along a rural road.

Mr. and Mrs. John Herman, both 71, of Route 2, Stevens Point, were in critical condition today in a hospital.

Birmingham Tries to Avert New Outbreaks frightening in the history of Birmingham," said Sheriff Melvin Bailey as violence continued breaking out despite pleas for peace.

Not since integration leader Medgar Evers was shot to death at his home in Jackson, Miss., in June has the nation's Negro community reacted so strongly to racial violence.

Negro leaders called for strong federal action.

The blast was the worst of numerous bombings and other violence since Negroes began campaigning in April for desegregation.

Violence Grows

They achieved public school integration. Its beginning last week brought some student boycotts and protests. Gov. Wallace earlier sought to block the integration, but was stymied by federal intervention.

This tense city spent a long, fearful day and night after Sunday's blast. Several fires broke out, rocks were thrown by Negroes in various sections and gunfire was reported.

Sunday school classes at the church were just ending a lesson on "The love that forgives" when the explosion ripped out concrete, metal and glass.

The four girls apparently were in the lounge in the basement of the old brick church. One, Cynthia Wesley, 14, was hit by the full force of the blast and could be identified only by clothing and a ring.

Area Roped Off

The others were Carol Robertson and Addie Mae Collins, 14, and Denise McNair, 11.

Even as officers were roping off a two-block area around the church — the starting place for many of the desegregation demonstrations earlier this year — civic and church leaders were crying for peace and nonviolence.

But there was no peace. Two white youths fatally shot a 13-year-old Negro boy, policemen shot to death a 16-year-old Negro and two white men were wounded by Negroes, one in a robbery attempt.

Police were kept on the run for hours investigating reports of rock throwing, fires and other outbreaks.

FBI Begins Probe

The state troopers came in, the FBI launched its probe and U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy sent three top aides, Burke Marshall, Joseph Dolan and John Nolan.

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, telegraphed President Kennedy: "Unless some immediate steps are taken by the federal government to restore a sense of confidence in the protection of life, limb and property...we shall see in Birmingham and Alabama the worst racial holocaust the nation has ever seen."

The executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Roy Wilkins, wired the President from New York that unless the federal government offers more than "piecemeal and piecemeal aid against this type of bestiality," Negroes will "employ such methods as our desperation may dictate in defense of the lives of our people."

First Bomb Deaths

Bomb blasts aren't new to Birmingham Negroes, but bomb deaths are.

Twenty-two times in the past eight years, explosions have been directed at Negroes here. Sunday's was the first one that killed. In none of the blasts has there been a conviction.

Police estimated that 10 sticks of dynamite went into the bomb, apparently placed in a stairwell about four feet below ground level outside the building. Dynamite is not unfamiliar in Birmingham, a mining town.

The blast occurred while about 200 persons were in the church, including about 80 in basement classrooms. The explosion hurled chunks of concrete, twisted metal and shattered glass against nearby buildings. Several cars parked near the church were damaged. The street and sidewalks were so thickly covered with pieces of glass it was impossible to walk without stepping on it. Much of the glass came from windows in a nearby building—used for businesses and rental rooms.

Trouble Elsewhere

The blast made, or rekindled, hate quickly. There were also desperate calls for love — from white and Negro leaders alike.

Crowds of Negroes gathered. Some wept, others cursed. "I wish I could get my hands on the ones that did it," several said.

A few rocks were thrown, but there was no serious disorder around the church, with the police riot squad and a riot tank on hand. The Negroes dispersed when policemen fired several rounds into the air from shotguns and rifles.

There was trouble elsewhere, though.

In suburban Sandusky, 13-year-old Virgil Ware, a Negro, allegedly was shot to death by two white youngsters on a motor scooter.

Johnnie Robinson, 16, was shot and killed by police officers who said they intended to shoot over his head after he threw rocks at them.

Two major fires broke out, both in Negro residential areas. A Negro house burned in suburban Ensley.

Boutwell, the mayor, wept when he learned of the bombing. He had been seeking racial peace since he took office in May after defeating staunch segregationist Eugene (Bull) Connor.

Gov. Wallace said in a statement: "The entire forces of the state will be utilized to maintain law and order." He said he hoped the bombers were caught, and offered a $5,000 reward.

more babies since the birth of the quintuplets.

Looking at a score of newsmen crowded into the hospital lounge, Berbos smiled and said: "They've all been scared off."

Fischer and three of his other five children attended Mass Sunday at Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church, escorted in and out by a platoon of reporters and photographers.

It wasn't far away from birth-day time for any of the three youngsters. Julie was 6 Sunday, Charlotte will be 7 Wednesday, and Danny will be 8 Oct. 5. The other Fischer children are Evelyn, 4, and Denise, 3.

While the father and Dr. Berbos were busy with periodic news conferences in the hospital cafeteria Sunday, Mrs. Fischer rested in her third-floor room and tried to think of names for the four girls. They all were named Mary but have no second names. The boy was named James Andrew.

if necessary to try to get a vote this week.

Much of Sparkman's prepared address centered on replying to a series of questions raised a week ago by Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine. She is listed in the doubtful vote column.

No Factual Answers

Sparkman said "there are no single factual answers available to most of the questions posed. There are only speculative answers, but answers with high probabilities, based on interpretation of available facts."

"Final resolution of most of the senator's questions would come, I fear, only from data collected after a full-scale nuclear war between the United States and the Soviet Union," Sparkman added.

Many of Sen. Smith's questions involved highly secret data, Sparkman said. He suggested she and other interested senators read the classified testimony available in the files of the Senate committees.

On two of the major points raised by Sen. Smith, Sparkman quoted testimony by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

"Effectiveness Unimpaired" "The absence from our arsenal of a bomb greater than the one we can build under the treaty will not impair the effectiveness of our strategic forces," Sparkman said.

"Even after a Soviet strike the total surviving U.S. strategic nuclear force will be large enough to destroy the enemy."

He added that supporters recognized "there are risks in this treaty."

Also speaking in favor of the treaty was Sen. Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., who said that the "mother's vote" supports the treaty as a method for curbing radioactive fallout. But she denied this support was based on sentimentality or a lack of concern for national security.

Major Achievement

"It is a vote that flows from the rational concern of any mother for the welfare of her children and her natural and acute sensitivity in their Isotopes, kept comfortable by controlled heat, humidity and oxygen."

The baptism was common for premature infants, but the confirmation of newborn children is rare in the Latin rite of the Catholic Church.

Fischer retained two Aberdeen attorneys, Joe Barnett and Stan Siegel, to guard his interests. The lawyers reportedly were negotiating with two major magazines for exclusive rights to the story of the quintuplets.

Quintuplets occur only once in 42 million births. Of the three previous quintuple births in the United States, none of the children survived infancy.

Many Phone Calls

The hospital switchboard reported a barrage of telephone calls about the condition of the five babies. Congratulatory telegrams arrived from President Kennedy and other officials.

The births came in comparative rapid fashion, the first infant arriving at 1:58 a.m. Saturday and the last at 3:01 a.m. The boy was the fourth one born.

Officials of the Nash-Finch wholesale grocery warehouse, where Fischer works as an $80 a week billing clerk, said it was all right if the proud papa didn't show up for work for a few days.

City Taxes as Large A Problem as Federal

BY SYLVIA PORTER

New York's recent teachers' salary crisis underlines the grim probability that we who live in this fabulous city will be hit by another tax boost next year to cover 1964's record municipal spending — on top of the $300 million tax hike we received this year to cover 1963's record municipal spending.

Porter

Mayor Wagner gave us a big "hint" of this prospect when he warned last month of "the growing magnitude" of New York City's financial problems and said, "I cannot give clear assurance that our present tax resources will be sufficient to meet next year's needs." The pay increases given to the teachers to avert a strike suggest that Wagner's hint may be a forecast. At $3.1 billion, New York City's income is larger than the income of the entire federal government in 1933, but it's still not sufficient to cover our expanding spending. We New Yorkers are carrying a record budget, a record tax load, a record debt — but the trends continue ever up.

Front Doors

So preoccupied are most Americans with the spending budget in Washington that they do not see in proper perspective what is going on at their own front doors.

What's happening to us in New York is happening in cities—particularly big ones—from coast to coast, and such exceptions to the upland as Cleveland and Boston are mighty few.

While federal spending outside of defense has crept moderately higher in recent years, the financial scale of all city governments has doubled in the past decade alone.

In 1962 revenues of our cities totaled $16.7 billion against $8.3 billion in 1952, and their spending hit $17.1 billion against $8.4 billion. At the end of the 1962 fiscal year outstanding debts of the cities amounted to $26.8 billion.

against $12.6 billion in 1952, and their financial assets (cash and holdings of securities) reached $14.1 billion against $6.9 billion. All the figures for 1962 are up 100 per cent or more over 1952. What's more, the spending total does not include other local spending by counties, school districts, special tax authorities, townships — even though much of this spending goes directly for city functions and services. If this other spending were added, the scale of local governments now would be well above $42 billion — again double the 1952 level.

Salaries Take Big Cut

Where is the money going? Of course, a substantial percentage goes to salaries, but it is most significant that while city government payrolls have climbed around 50 per cent in the 10-year period, the number of municipal government employees on a full-time equivalent basis has risen only about 25 per cent to approximately 1.5 million.

The fact is the money is spent for an exceedingly wide variety of items, ranging from bricks to bed sheets, from airports to welfare, from police protection to sanitation. Just operating the cities took $11.1 billion of the $17.1 billion spent in 1962. Construction of facilities, purchase of land, existing structures and equipment took over $4.2 billion. Interest on city debt absorbed more than $800 million. Spending on airports is up over 300 per cent since 1952, on housing and urban renewal it's up over 200 per cent, on libraries it's up over 100 per cent. The smallest percentage increases have been chalked up for health, hospitals and public welfare.

Raised By Taxes

Where is the money coming from? Of the $16.7 billion in revenues, most came from taxes — property and other taxes. Nearly one-fifth came from sales by municipally operated utilities and liquor stores. In recent years, cities have been obtaining increasing amounts from their own sales taxes.

Where are the cities heading? While some cities are putting a lid on expansion of functions and services, the trend toward expansion remains powerful, and since their taxing powers are limited, cities the nation over are in a growing squeeze.

In New York City, as an illustration, we scream and squawk each time Mayor Wagner proposes a new tax or "fee," but we continue demanding new functions and services. We're hardly unique.

With our city taxes going up, our state taxes going up, our social security taxes going up, from what direction can we hope for relief? Only from the federal gov-

Return of French Ambassador May Mean New Policy

PARIS (AP) — Diplomats believe the return of French Ambassador Roger Lalouette from South Viet Nam for high level consultations could herald new moves by President Charles de Gaulle in the former French territory. But the general opinion is that De Gaulle will refrain from any immediate moves that could aggravate the Buddhist crisis in the Southeast Asian nation.

De Gaulle irritated officials in Washington last month by suggesting both South Viet Nam and Communist North Viet Nam would be better off free from "foreign influence." He also proposed a policy of reunification and neutralization of the two nations, possibly with France guiding the way.

The French president's statement was interpreted as a slap at the U.S. role in South Viet Nam, part of an area France occupied for a century. The United States is spending about $1.5 million daily in South Viet Nam to help battle the Communist Viet Cong.

But the general opinion is that De Gaulle will refrain from any immediate moves that could aggravate the Buddhist crisis in the Southeast Asian nation.
